Lismore Castle

FOOD AND FLOWERS FROM A HISTORIC IRISH GARDEN

LAURA BURLINGTON, PHOTOGRAPHS BY ANNA
BATCHELOR, INTRODUCTION BY WILLIAM CAVENDISH

Lady Laura Burlington, a driving force in farm-to-table philosophy, has cultivated a pastoral Eden in the Irish countryside at her family's ancestral home. This beautiful cookbook celebrates Ireland's remarkably rich food heritage and offers modern takes on some of its classic recipes.

Lismore Castle is the Cavendish family's base in the heart of the Irish countryside. A hidden gem in West Waterford, perched high above the Blackwater River, with ten acres of gardens, the beautiful estate was built in 1185 in a bucolic setting. When Laura and her husband, William, took on the mantle of the property, they began working with local farmers, butchers, fisheries, and gardeners to inform a new, eco-minded way of living, eating, and looking after the land.

In this personal recipe collection, organized by season and accompanied by photographs that exude the warmth and hospitality of the Emerald Isle, the family shares forty favorite dishes from the castle kitchen, all fundamental to their home-cooking—and entertaining—repertoire. Dishes and baked goods are made from scratch with produce from Lismore's gardens and range from classic malty brown Irish soda bread to Beetroot Gravdax fished from the Blackwater River, plum and apple crumble shared beside the fire, and an assortment of chutneys and jams with an earthy sweetness, among many others. Stunning photography—commissioned especially for this book—of the castle, its gardens, interiors, and the finished dishes bring the book—and its source inspiration—to vivid life, making this the perfect gift for home cooks.

Laura Cavendish, Countess of Burlington is a British fashion consultant and contributing editor to British Vogue. She has been on the New Generation board of the British Fashion Council since 2010 and has consulted for a number of brands including Selfridges and Acne. Anna Batchelor is a freelance portrait, interiors, and lifestyle photographer based in London. William Cavendish is a British aristocrat, photographer, and heir of the 12th Duke of Devonshire.

The Art of Cocktails

BY THE LEGENDARY BARTENDER
AT THE RITZ

FRANK MEIER, EDITED BY PHILIPPE COLLIN,
ARTWORK BY DELIUS

This volume is the ultimate bartender's manual—a delightful concoction of vintage cocktails with Art Deco style and glamour.

Originally self-published in 1936 and offered only to a select group of Meier's friends and favorite guests, this edition is enhanced by stylish, vintage-inspired illustrations.

With over 300 recipes, this is Meier's personal mixology bible. While all the classics are here, it includes many of Meier's own creations such as the Bees Knees (a gin sour where honey replaces simple syrup) and the Seapea Fizz (created for Cole Porter, whose initials provided its name).

Also included are all manner of libations—sours, toddies, flips, egg nogs, slings, fizzes, coolers, rickeys, juleps, punches, and some nonalcoholic drinks—as well as extensive coverage of wines, eaux de vies, and even stylish sandwiches. Laced throughout are Meier's wit and wisdom, life lessons, etiquette, and invaluable advice on a range of topics from horseracing to how to help with a snakebite.

A fixture of Parisian nightlife, Meier was especially popular with US expats and visitors including Ernest Hemingway, F. Scott Fitzgerald, Noël Coward, and Cole Porter. He even served passionate martini aficionado Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Frank Meier honed his craft in New York before fleeing Prohibition to tend bar at the Ritz Paris in 1921 until his death in 1947. Along the way, he became a celebrated icon living by the motto "to be a barman is to be a chemist and a psychologist." Philippe Collin is a journalist, historian, and the author of France Inter's successful historical podcasts. Delius is a French cartoonist in the ligne claire style and an enthusiast of Streamline Moderne and Bauhaus design.

Spilled: Stories & Recipes From Natural Winemakers

STEPHANIE MERCIER VOYER, DAVID MCMILLAN AND ZEV ROVINE, PHOTOGRAPHS BY XAVIER TERA

The popularity of natural wine has taken the food and wine world by storm, and this book takes readers on an insider's tour of the wineries and farmhouse kitchens of the most important and influential natural winemakers of our time.

An important parallel to the slow food and farm-to-table movements, natural wine follows the principles of permaculture and organic agriculture. Celebrated as an alternative to industrialized wine making, natural wine is produced with minimal intervention, allowing the unique taste of the grapes, and the land on which they're grown, to shine.

This book profiles the stars of the natural wine world, providing the reader with an insider's view of how they create their wines. The authors bring readers into their culture, giving an authentic look into the winemakers' techniques and creativity, as well as to their tables for the home cooked meals they like to make after a long day working in the vineyard. The book also explores the most important winemaking regions of France and Italy, explaining the characteristics of each before diving into the wines of the individual producers.

With artful photos showing the process behind some of the best wines being made today, favorite recipes from each of the winemakers reflecting the food culture, and knowledgeable essays explaining the winemaking techniques, this is must-have book for anyone who loves wine.

Stephanie Mercier Voyer is an author, journalist, editor, and producer working in food and wine. She contributes to such publications as Elle Canada, enRoute magazine, and Growers & Co Magazine. Her previous books include the cookbooks Salad Pizza Wine and Elena & Friends. Zev Rovine is an influential natural wine importers and distributors in the US representing more than 150 producers in countries ranging from Canada to South Africa.

JEFFREY ALAN MARKS
FOREWORD BY JOHN SALADINO

Designer Marks's second book celebrates his relaxed and refined interiors inspired by the stylish ease and laid-back coastal feel of Southern California.

Since the launch of his first book and hit TV Show Million Dollar Decorators, Jeffrey Alan Marks has married and become a father. His growing family grounds his new book, a celebration of the idea of home as represented in ten houses, bookended by his own on the West and East Coasts. Marks believes a home must reflect the way its inhabitants want to live, their unique perspective, and how they approach their lives. Trained in England, Marks has long had a deep and profound architectural crush on the British vernacular, which creates a pleasing interplay with his Southern California roots. The result: homes that feel layered and dramatic, but always comfortable.

The homes explored in the book include his 1925 beach cottage in Montecito; a clean Bahamian compound open to the azure seas; a working Los Angeles horse farm; and Marks's new family home in Greenwich, Connecticut. Along the way Marks shares key bits of advice for creating the looks. Tailored yet comfortable is key, as Marks mixes antiques with contemporary pieces for a look that is entirely unique.

Recognized as one of today's most influential American designers, Jeffrey Alan Marks is frequently featured in Elle Decor, AD, Vogue Living, and House Beautiful, and has designed eponymous product collections for Kravet, The Rug Company, A. Rudin, and Palecek. The author of The Meaning of Home, he shares his homes with his husband, daughter, and new dog, Sister. John Saladino is an acclaimed American designer based in Montecito, CA.

Embracing Beauty

SERENE SPACES FOR LIVING

BETH WEBB

The highly anticipated second book from esteemed, Atlanta-based interior designer Webb, known for her ethereal, lushly textured interiors, is a study in organic elegance.

Webb is an internationally recognized interior designer admired for her exquisite, light-filled residences. Her second book features homes from across the country, from Sea Island, Georgia, to Jackson Hole, Wyoming.

Inspired by her previous experience as an art dealer, Webb designs beautifully composed spaces. She believes in the power of light, and shadow, in creating atmosphere; a pale, luminous wallcovering may be balanced by the presence of antiques, or a chapel-like white bedroom may segue into a deep gray sitting room. As important is a sense of hand: the feeling of glazed earthenware, a worn oak farm table, the softness of fine linen. Webb is also motivated by the pursuit of joy and the power of beauty—she makes sure these are rooms for living, for gathering with family, for refuge.

Accompanied by guiding inspirations from art, landscape, history, and travel throughout, Webb shares fourteen serene residences, from her own home in Brays Island, South Carolina, with its pavilions of wood, stone, and glass nestled under a canopy of ancient oak, to a gabled, storybook Arts-and-Crafts inspired Kiawah Island residence on the edge of the Atlantic.

A celebration of home as sanctuary, Webb's new book instructs and inspires readers to embrace the beauty that's all around us.

Beth Webb's work has been featured in Veranda, Elle Decor, Traditional Home, the New York Times, Frederic, Luxe, Milieu, and many other publications. Based in Atlanta, Webb is a board member of the Design Leadership Network and the author of An Eye for Beauty.

Interiors for a Life in Good Taste

CAROLINE GIDIÈRE
PHOTOGRAPHS BY ISABEL PARRA

A fresh perspective on classic American interior design and practical advice on living well in our modern world, in this much-anticipated work from a rising decorator.

Gidière's design aesthetic is a modern take on traditional interiors, using contemporary and antique furniture with backdrops of joyful color and pattern to create spaces that are both new and classical—florals, botanical prints, rush baskets, tailored stripes, well-stocked bars, books, and comfort abound. The decorator not only presents her decorating capabilities but also shares her talents as a hostess, giving ideas on how to live and entertain in her inviting rooms.

Gidière's style is sophisticated and charming, taking cues from such accomplished Southern designers as Charlotte Moss, Richard Keith Langham, and Celerie Kemble. The book is organized by the ways in which a home is planned and utilized: Social Life is centered on entryways, living rooms, and dining rooms—spaces that are designed to receive and welcome others. Private Life focuses on bedrooms, libraries, and studies—the sanctuaries of our day-to-day existences. Family Life reviews kitchens, breakfast rooms, dens, and playrooms—places that are the heart and soul of the house. The Good Life celebrates how a home can be used for hospitality and entertainment, inside and out. And, finally, My Life shows how Gidière interprets the art of living well in her own home. Each section offers in-depth information on topics that include setting the table, keeping houseplants, stocking a bar, outfitting a guest room, and entertaining outdoors. Gidière's aesthetic salutes interior design of the past, while interpreting it for our lives today.

Caroline Gidière is an acclaimed interior designer and tastemaker based in Birmingham, Alabama.

Alfredo Paredes at Home

ALFREDO PAREDES, WITH BRAD GOLDFARB

The first book by the interior designer who made his name as chief creative officer for Ralph Lauren—he brought us the legendary Polo Bar and the Madison Avenue flagship store’s immersive windows and retail environments, and now he shows us how to fashion our own homes to reflect his signature coolly casual and comfortable look.

While touring readers through four of his own homes, Paredes shares the key elements in his creative process, giving us access to the same tools he uses in every home to decorate rooms that feel modern even as they glamorize the past, to show us how an environment has real power to transform our very state of mind. Paredes is renowned for being a master of extrapolating an entire theme from one unique item, say transforming the stripe of a crisp Oxford shirt into a unique upholstery perfect for the seaside, or finding inspiration for a couch’s decorative fringe in a well-worn piece of leather ranch gear. He is said to have “perfect visual pitch,” creating vignettes and rooms with an energy that feels undeniably masculine and sophisticated thanks to dark wood, iron railings, rustic fabrics, an overall patina, and soft furnishings in soothing earth tones.

Alfredo Paredes spent thirty-three years crafting environments, experiences, and products at Ralph Lauren, and was the creative force behind all the Ralph Lauren stores and restaurants worldwide. He also helmed the Ralph Lauren Home Design Studio, which will now serve his own design studio as it expands the Alfredo Paredes furniture line. Prior to his long career at Ralph Lauren, Paredes worked in visuals for Laura Ashley and Britches of Georgetown. He’s a graduate of the Art Institute of Atlanta.

Marshall Watson: Defining Elegance

MARSHALL WATSON

Acclaimed for his understated elegance and European-inspired style, Marshall Watson creates interiors that blend quiet luxury with true comfort.

With an in-depth knowledge of periods and styles, Watson is known for his meticulously researched designs. His rooms always make architectural sense and his work is often inspired by collaborations with architects. Watson strives to uncover and recognize the special qualities found in historic structures and furnishings, and to preserve them while moving them forward into the present.

Watson's interiors are noted for their calm and lightness of being, which he achieves through a gracious sense of proportion and a harmonious continuity via subtle repetitions in color, pattern, material, and silhouette.

In his second book, Watson shares all-new work from a wide range of environments, revealing how his design principles adapt to different geographies and climates. Whether a light and airy seaside home in Connecticut or a modern renovation of a barn in Napa Valley, Watson explains how he translates each owner's lifestyle, the house's history, and the setting into a highly original form of elegance. Also, for the first time, Watson invites readers into his own homes—his richly layered apartment in Manhattan and his light and airy East Hampton retreat featuring his own landscaped gardens—discussing how he achieves design harmony and how anyone can discover his or her own.

Beautifully photographed and with Watson's thoughtful texts, this inspiring book is a must-have for interior design lovers.

The Romance of Home

HOUSES BY MOHON INTERIORS

MARCUS MOHON, WITH KYLE HOEPNER

The chic, soulful, livable spaces of Texas-based interior designer Marcus Mohon exert a universal appeal with their air of timeless serenity.

This debut volume presents several extraordinary homes, ranging from a stone-clad villa in Austin to a casual seaside retreat to an art-filled family compound, each of which gracefully balances high style with easygoing comfort. Mohon draws on the heritage of the Mediterranean world to fashion living environments that transport their occupants to an enchanted realm far removed from day-to-day concerns. Intimate foyers beckon from behind carved wooden doors, dining rooms boast dramatically embellished chandeliers suspended above sleekly simple tables, and sitting rooms entice with luxurious blends of color, texture, and furnishings both modern and antique.

Included are many of Mohon's exquisite watercolor sketches, which are integral to his design process. Their poetic sensibility infuses every room, translating them into spaces that exude romance. Mohon also shares a wealth of design ideas that resonate with today's personally expressive sensibility. Sophisticated and full of patina, these interiors are sure to delight and inspire.

Marcus Mohon founded Austin, Texas-based Mohon Interiors in 2001. His work on homes from California to Florida has been covered in Milieu, Luxe, Southern Living, and Veranda, among other publications, and recognized with the ICAA John Staub Award for Interior Design and multiple Luxe Red Awards. Kyle Hoepner is a design and lifestyle writer, whose work has appeared in Architectural Digest, other leading publications, and several books.

Drawn Together STUDIO DB

ARCHITECTURE AND INTERIORS

BRITT ZUNINO AND DAMIAN ZUNINO,
WITH TIM MCKEOUGH, FOREWORD BY JIMMY CHIN
AND CHAI VASARHELYI

Hailed by Architectural Digest as a firm that “is able to capture a desired mood or ambiance emphatically,” this incredibly exciting design duo presents its most intriguing domestic projects in this eagerly awaited debut.

Studio DB, a Manhattan-based architecture and interiors firm headed by Britt and Damian Zunino, is inspired by contextual design and eclecticism—the resulting work embraces the juxtaposition of and tension between polished and playful, modern and traditional. Their projects incorporate a mix of materials, sculptural forms, and whimsical pattern and color, all anchored by a contemporary desire for domestic ease. Design details distinguish their work, with tactile materials interpreted in fresh ways. Examples include exquisite de Gournay wallpaper paired with suspended lamps in a variety of geometric forms and the terrazzo floor of a city foyer, incorporating massive chunks of stone slabs and smaller rocks from the client’s climbing adventures.

With varied backgrounds in fashion, design, action sports, and architecture, Britt and Damian approach each scheme with an openness and a sense of excitement. As the duo states in the book’s introduction, “In the end, it’s the dialog, the push and pull between different viewpoints from different eras, that makes the end result more engaging.”

Britt and Damian Zunino are the principals of Studio DB. They founded the studio in 2007 and have completed residential and commercial projects throughout the United States, Canada, and Europe. Tim McKeough is a design writer who contributes to the New York Times, Elle Decor, and Architectural Digest. Jimmy Chin and Chai Vasarhelyi are Oscar-winning filmmakers. Studio DB has designed their Manhattan apartment and the headquarters of their company, Little Monster Films.

Tales of a Not So Tiny House

CHLOE BARCELOU AND BRANDON BATCHELDER,
FOREWORD BY MARY RANDOLPH CARTER

Visually lush, this is the story of the lavish custom steampunk caravan in the wilds of New England that became a dark cottagecore TikTok sensation.

If you take a fortuitous wrong turn in the primeval mountains of New Hampshire, you'll stumble across this 300-square-foot handmade home. A bewitching mix of fairy tale cottage, steamer trunk, and pirate ship, it is built by Chloe and Brandon almost entirely from their recycled film sets, thrift, flea market, and junkyard finds. Originally featured on HGTV's Tiny House, Big Living, it went on to garner international attention in print and online, going viral multiple times.

The book takes readers on a journey through Chloe and Brandon's story of building and decorating their home, which they have completely redesigned in the last few years. Like the house, every inch of this richly ornate book is packed with innovative ideas for small space living, including foldable sections of the house used as "his and hers" wings with custom-built wardrobes, desks, chairs, and vanity; a bathroom with a composting toilet and folding sink; even a guest bed. Chloe and Brandon share the joys of day-to-day small-space living: creating storage in every nook and cranny, baking pies in the tiny kitchen from fruit they've gathered; climbing into the dramatically curtained bed loft by candlelight.

Sumptuously designed and illustrated, this book is a wildly original take on small-space living.

Partners in life and in business, Chloe Barcelou and Brandon Batchelder design and build props and sets for short and feature films, along with commercial and editorial photography as well as residential and commercial interior design. Chloe is also the fashion editor of New Hampshire Magazine. Mary Randolph Carter is an author, photographer, avid collector of junk, and longtime creative director for Ralph Lauren.

Santa Barbara

AT HOME IN PARADISE

DOUGLAS WOODS, PHOTOGRAPHS BY MATT WALLA,
FOREWORD BY MARC APPLETON,
CONTRIBUTIONS BY M. BRIAN TICHENOR

Afficionados of Spanish Style architecture and of the “Santa Barbara adobe” recognize Santa Barbara as a mecca, the influence of which continues to be felt nationwide. The book is an invitation to revisit this Eden and to discover some of the hidden homes whose doors have never been opened to the public—till now.

With new photographs of houses steeped in the Spanish colonial tradition, from 1838 to today, not since Rizzoli’s Santa Barbara Style (2001) has a book so eloquently captured the distinctive splendor of this seaside paradise.

Known worldwide for the Santa Barbara style, the town epitomizes a type of building at once elegant and suffused with poetry. At its heart is the historic downtown, featuring white-washed Mediterranean-style stucco buildings with tile roofs and the iconic Santa Barbara Mission of 1787, whose austere beauty set the tone for all that followed. From its earliest days, the influence of this place has been felt and has since radiated across the sunbelt; it remains a model of emulation and inspiration. But it is the houses and the dream of living in Santa Barbara and its sister communities of Ojai, Carpinteria, Summerland, Goleta, and Montecito, that casts the most profound spell.

Featuring a wide range of these houses, estates, and gardens—from the landmarked Rancho Santa Clara del Norte (1838) to the traditionally styled Villa Corbeau (2006)—the book is a celebration of America’s Riviera.

Douglas Woods is the author of The California Casa, Classic Homes of Los Angeles, and others. Matt Walla is the photographer of Casa del Herrero and Spanish Colonial Style. Marc Appleton is an author and founding principle of Appleton Partners Architects. M. Nantucket Looms

A LEGACY OF STYLE

NANTUCKET LOOMS, WITH LINDA JANE HOLDEN,
PHOTOGRAPHS BY MATT KISIDAY,
FOREWORD BY MITCHELL OWENS

With its revered past, Nantucket Looms globally recognized distinctive interiors style—bespoke handwoven textiles, artisanal furnishings, and local art that exudes the island's heritage—is coveted by today's tastemakers.

In the early 1960s a reawakening was happening on Nantucket. Into this world stepped Andy Oates and Bill Euler, one skilled in fine arts and the other in the art of hospitality. In 1968 they opened Nantucket Looms, which specialized in needlepoint, crewelwork, handwoven fabrics, and local artwork, forging their Nantucket style aesthetic. This modest homespun charm held great appeal to such style makers as Jackie Kennedy Onassis, Bunny Mellon, and interior designer Billy Baldwin.

Nantucket Looms launched an interior design studio in 1998 to much acclaim. The featured recent homes have a sophisticated, comfortable ambience that exemplifies the company's style—wooden planked floors; natural fiber rugs; muted color palettes in shades of blues, grays, greens, and whites; timeless furniture; and handwoven textiles. Each is adorned with local artwork and crafts inspired by the island's rich maritime history. This fresh approach to design can be applied everywhere; it is a style embraced in the work of many leading interior designers.

Founded in 1968, Nantucket Looms is a production weaving studio, home furnishings shop, and interior design studio that has received considerable press. The weaving studio collaborates with designers including Michael S. Smith, Peter Marino, Meg Braff, and David Netto. Linda Jane Holden is a lifestyle writer and author of The Gardens of Bunny Mellon, among other titles. Mitchell Owens is a lifestyle journalist, who is the editor-in-chief of The Magazine Antiques.

TORREY: Private Spaces

GREAT AMERICAN DESIGN

TEXT BY GAY GASSMANN

New York-based modernist interior design firm TORREY delivers its first signature monograph showcasing a decade in design.

Growing up in America's heartland, Kansas, and hitting New York City at age twenty-one, the young designer Andrew Torrey brought his big dreams, ambition, and strong work ethic with him. The self-taught Torrey took the leap and founded his eponymous firm in 2013.

This first monograph showcases twenty-three of the designer's extraordinary projects, from vibrant Manhattan and sun-soaked Miami to London, Los Angeles, and Cabo San Lucas. This debut book explores Torrey's distinctive approach: a seamless blending of cool, clean, modern designs with opulent finishes, sumptuous materials, and a reverence for the historical and vintage. A passion for contemporary art and an approach combining modern glamour with effortless charm also define Torrey's signature.

This volume features specially commissioned photographs by Manolo Yllera, Douglas Friedman, and Tim Lenz, among others.

The Palm Springs School

DESERT MODERNISM 1934–1975

ALAN HESS, CONTRIBUTIONS BY
CHRISTINE MADRID FRENCH, EDDIE JONES,
KEN LYON, GEORGE E. THOMAS AND SIAN WINSHIP

Palm Springs is at the center of a unique tradition in architecture marked by invention and a sensitivity to local conditions that has resulted in design that exerts an influence far greater than the town's small size. The book is the first to fully explore the wide-ranging forms this architecture has taken, from houses to gas stations, hotels to airports, banks to restaurants and spas.

Much more than a resort destination, Palm Springs has served as a laboratory of the Modern. From the steel-and-glass boxes of Richard Neutra to the earthy organic homes of John Lautner, and everything in between, the solutions of architects and designers—including notably William F. Cody, E. Stewart Williams, and Albert Frey—were diverse and are ever more relevant in the face of contemporary challenges. Their answers addressed questions that still hold urgency: How to design sustainably in harsh climates? How to use technology efficiently and creatively to meet those challenges? How to build affordable and high-quality mass-produced housing? How to reflect a region's culture, economy, and atmosphere?

Architects here responded to nature's climatological demands, and Palm Springs became a center for innovations that were rooted in practice more than theory. Benefitting from the architectural freedoms offered by the remoteness of the California desert, designers explored new approaches that we can now identify as central to the Palm Springs School, shown here in rich archival and contemporary photography.

Alan Hess is an architect, historian, and author. Eddie Jones is an award-winning architect. Ken Lyon, a licensed architect, is a city planner based in Palm Springs. Christine Madrid French is a historian and preservationist. George E. Thomas is a cultural and architectural historian. Sian Winship is president of the Society of Architectural Historians, Southern California Chapter.

Isay Weinfeld Works

ISAY WEINFELD, EDITED BY OSCAR RIERA OJEDA,
PHOTOGRAPHS BY FERNANDO GUERRA,
FOREWORD BY AGNALDO FARIAS,
CONTRIBUTIONS BY JAMES MOORE MCCOWN

A comprehensive consideration of the architecture and interiors of the great contemporary Brazilian architect, designer, and filmmaker.

Weinfeld is renowned for work that exudes the power of classical modernism while being completely of its own moment. Biophilic design, an approach to architecture that emphasizes and embraces the natural world and its restorative qualities, is at its heart, allowing for a gorgeous aesthetic while also celebrating nature. Here, design offers sublime symbiosis where natural world and that which is human-made serve as complements. Above all, the buildings are easy to be in, inviting, and elegant—and all without ostentatiousness.

Featured projects span four decades in the architect's ongoing quest for beauty and his deeply felt devotion to modernist principles, including the Jardim Building, overlooking New York's High Line; his reinvention of the Four Seasons restaurant in the iconic Seagram Building; La Petite Afrique in Monte Carlo, with its deep plant-studded balconies; and the monolithic Fasano Hotel in São Paulo, among many others.

With work ranging from residential towers and houses to bars, hotels, restaurants, equestrian centers, and bookstores, to name only a few of the types at which Weinfeld excels, he is most concerned with how people feel in his spaces, and designs with the ultimate goal that any given place—house interior, courtyard garden, or simple hall between rooms—evokes happiness and pleasure.

Isay Weinfeld is a filmmaker, designer of interiors and furniture, and head architect at his eponymous firm, founded in 1973. Agnaldo Farias is a PhD professor at the School of Architecture and Urbanism at the University of São Paulo. James Moore McCown is a writer and co-author of Rizzoli's The Home Office. Oscar Riera Ojeda, an editor and designer, is director of Oscar Riera Ojeda Publishers. Fernando Guerra is an architectural photographer based in Lisbon, Portugal.

The Architecture of Art

CONTEMPORARY MUSEUMS

BÉATRICE GRENIER

Enter the museum, the most radical site of experimentation for architecture.

This book tackles the role of architecture in shaping the museum of the future, and its undeniable power in articulating our relationship to art. Only through the museum can we understand what art is and what its growing role in our urban environment might be.

Grenier researched museum architecture around the world to consider such questions as: How does architecture reformulate the experience of the museum and art itself? To what extent does museum architecture allow art to exist differently in the city?

This book presents different types and forms of museums: the Louvre Abu Dhabi as a replica of a museum-city, inspired by Paris; the Guggenheim Museum and the Centre Pompidou as drive-through museums, shaped in an age when the car is protagonist; the visual database ImageNet, critical to the development of AI, challenges the museum as an encyclopedia; the new wing of the American Museum of Natural History in New York is considered against architecture's role as enabler of the human experience of nature. Through this analysis, museum architecture is revealed as being a catalyst for a contemporary definition of the urban and esthetic phenomenon and its study essential in understanding why we need it more than ever.

Beatrice Grenier is a Paris-based curator, writer and editor. She has lived in Montreal, Shanghai, New York where she worked closely with acclaimed artist Cai Guo-Qiang. She is the Paris desk editor of ArtAsiaPacific and a contributor to Domus. She is currently working on the architectural project for the Fondation Cartier's new headquarters in Paris.

THE ARCHITECTURE OF ART Contemporary Museums

Beatrice Grenier

RIZZOLI

The specially grouted glass for Wright was as a dynamic part of movement, capable of producing a novel spatial experience. He believed an open, organically rippled, narrow range, continuously curved and rising, and experienced while a moving vehicle, could generate a fluid and kinesthetic sensation comparable to movement park ride (c. 1917). While the Automobile City project was designed as a sweeping spiral made the top of the Guggenheim Museum design a full circle, some twenty years later a curved the helix form and reduced the scale to make it suitable to the pedestrian. What different form the Automobile City is that as the Guggenheim visitor is meant to take the elevator to the top, arriving directly at the redistribution of the spiral and from there coming to descend. The principle stays the same with that of the Maryland tower, however.

Bosco Verticale

MORPHOLOGY OF A VERTICAL FOREST

EDITED BY STEFANO BOERI ARCHITECTS

To commemorate the 10th anniversary of the Bosco Verticale, this book traces the history of a building that has become a symbol of Milan.

From the outset, the concept developed by Stefano Boeri for a residential building in 2004 proved to be forward-looking as it anticipated the new frontiers of urban living. Ten years after its inauguration, the Bosco Verticale (Vertical Forest) has kept all its promises and launched a new way of imagining contemporary cities.

This book celebrates an architectural work that has become the symbol of a renewed collective sensibility toward care for the environment and the plant world. Edited by Stefano Boeri Architetti, it traces its entire history. "The Bosco Verticale is one of the few 'living' buildings whose life is still followed ten years later." This was the inspiration behind the editorial structure of the volume, which is formed of three sections that evoke the growth of a tree: roots, trunk, and branches and leaves.

The various texts contributed by international authors and scholars are accompanied by drawings, sketches, and photographs of the construction site and the building that changes over the course of the seasons and years. The material comes from the archives of Studio Boeri Architetti and photo shoots that document the evolution of the project over the years. It features a photographic portfolio by Iwan Baan made specifically for the book, which also includes photos of the area from above and photos of the apartments that frame the city, filtered by the leaves of trees and plants.

Stefano Boeri is an architect and urban planner. In 1999 he founded Boeri Studio with Gianandrea Barreca and Giovanni La Varra, while 2011 saw the establishment of Stefano Boeri Architetti.

Waterwise Gardening

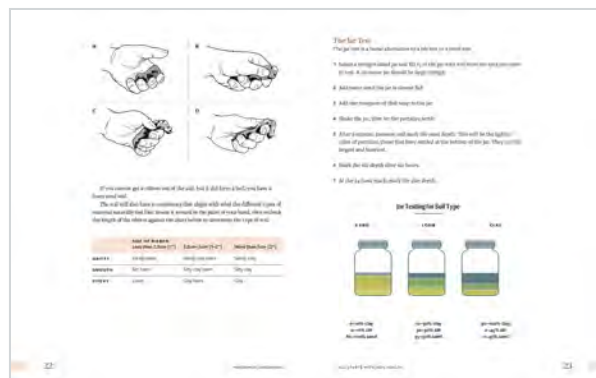

EVERYTHING YOU NEED TO KNOW TO GROW A LUSH YARD WITH THE LEAST WATER POSSIBLE

RICHARD RESTUCCIA

Whether home gardeners want to conserve water for ecological or purely monetary reasons, each is becoming more acutely aware that water is an increasingly scarce and expensive resource. This volume will be the first to actually give scientific guidance on how much to water, with what methods, and when.

The EPA estimates that home gardeners waste 50% of the water they use, without a good understanding of how much water their plants need. Richard Restuccia will fix that, showing readers how to achieve truly lush, beautiful, and bountiful gardens using less water than they would have ever imagined. By knowing the land, using simple technology like smart controllers that automatically adjust irrigation daily based on current weather and soil moisture (meaning the water savings pays for the controller within just a few months), understanding the provided charts of scientific water requirements for species as well as a guide of how to determine if a plant is suffering from overwatering, readers will benefit as Restuccia brings together all the information home gardeners usually have to go hunting for across various sources and websites. With specific plant recommendations to cover both temperate regions of the US and drier regions, including the Southwest and Southern California, this hardworking manual will become a valuable reference for home gardeners, saving them time performing menial tasks in the yard, money on replacing plants, and, of course, 30 to 50% off their water bills.

La Jolla, California-based Richard Restuccia has served on the Irrigation Association's Board of Directors and has consulted with many private companies and public agencies concerning water management. He has published articles in magazines concerning efficient irrigation and also started the Jain Irrigation Training Series, which has educated over two hundred thousand people on sustainable irrigation practices.

The New Romantic Garden

JO THOMPSON

After years of favoring loose, naturalistic styles, trends in garden design are shifting slightly back toward formalism—with a modern twist. From one of today's most decorated garden designers comes a volume that reveals in thirty exquisitely planted gardens dozens of ideas on how to adapt traditional garden design elements for today's more ecologically based aesthetics.

Over her thirty-year career, decorated designer Jo Thompson has become recognized as master of creating decadently planted, well-proportioned, English-style gardens rendered modern by a staunch commitment to biodiversity. To the eye this translates as a looser formality than English gardens of the past, though they are still every bit as luscious. Thompson peppers her wonderfully witty texts with a dash of lore as a nod to the idea that we are not, in fact, in complete charge of how our gardens grow; other forces are always at work, as they should be when we allow sustainable practices to help us guide rather than try to dominate nature's own efforts. Hundreds of beautiful color photos and chapter-by-chapter case studies of individual gardens designed around various themes provide inspiration for all gardeners who want their gardens to feel not merely well planted, but truly alive.

Jo Thompson has been listed by House and Garden and Country Life magazines as one of the UK's top ten garden designers and plantwomen. She has received four Gold and five Silver Gilt medals at the RHS Chelsea Flower Show, and in 2017 she won the People's Choice award at the first RHS Chatsworth Flower Show. She is a member of the RHS Gardens Committee and Garden Advisor for RHS Rosemoor, an RHS judge, and a member of the RHS Show Gardens Selection Panel. She lectures widely both internationally and nationally.

The Spirited Garden

CREATIVE PRIVATE RETREATS

PHOTOGRAPHS BY DOREEN WYNJA
TEXT BY LORENE EDWARDS FORKNER

A private view of intensely creative residential gardens, lovingly designed and tended by the plant-obsessed owners themselves. Hundreds of inspiring photographs show home gardeners how to successfully inject elements of their own personality—as well as plants in unique combinations—into their own yards.

A mix of high plant/horticultural knowledge and a love of artistically repurposed everyday materials as low-cost but unique features will strike a chord with all those who dream of perking up their own gardens. The photographer-author team sought out the most original gardens to feature here: those that use cleverly repurposed industrial and found materials, handmade archways made of gnarled branches or hand-welded fences, or unique sculptures and structures. Text and deep captions full of plant IDs highlight unusual or remarkable collections of flora and foliage and allow readers to re-create the planting designs and combinations that they see on the page.

Doreen Wynja has been shooting plants and gardens for over thirty years and has been the principal photographer for Monrovia Nursery for the past twenty. Her work has been published in numerous books and magazines, including Landscape Architecture Magazine, Garden Design, Fine Gardening, the American Gardener, Marin Magazine, the Seattle Times, and the Oregonian. She makes her home in Oregon's wine country. Lorene Edwards Forkner has been the weekly gardening columnist for the Seattle Times for nearly fifteen years and is the author of several gardening books including Color In and Out of the Garden, The Beginner's Guide to Growing Great Vegetables, and Now Is the Time for Trees. Rick Owens: Temple of Love

RICK OWENS, MIREN ARZALLUZ, AND ALEXANDRE SAMSON

With his provocative and subversive approach to design, Rick Owens has been a transformative force in fashion since he founded his label in 1994. This essential volume is the first critical appraisal of Owens's work, documenting the evolution of nearly three decades of the designer's inimitable worldview.

Owens remains one of the most daring and influential fashion designers working today. Often described for his "a-grunge-meets-glamor" aesthetic, Owens has cultivated a devoted international following. In his creations, grace and grit are paired with an obsession with structural transformation and movement, where diaphanous, flowing shapes contrast with opaque forms and sharp edges, an approach to formal invention that is complemented by a mania for new and often exotic materials.

Timed to coincide with the first comprehensive show of the designer's work taking place at the Palais Galliera in Paris in summer 2025, the scope and breadth of this exhibition promises to be a treat to both longtime fans and the uninitiated. Owens will reimagine the grand nineteenth-century palace housing the museum, with temporary installations that will serve as vitrines to his many creations. In effect dividing the book between the conception of showcases and the precious objects that they display within, the curatorial essays bookending this visual narrative will attempt to describe the multidisciplinary, even architectural approach Owens has to his creations.

Rick Owens is an American fashion designer; he launched his eponymous line in Los Angeles in 1994, before moving to Paris in 2003. Miren Arzalluz is a fashion historian and the director of the Palais Galliera. Alexandre Samson is a fashion historian and head of the contemporary design department at the Palais Galliera.

Poggy Style

THE WAY WE DRESS NOW

MOTOFUMI "POGGY" KOGI,
WITH JUN TAKAHASHI AND W. DAVID MARX

Poggy Style is the modern man's guide to getting dressed, from Motofumi "Poggy" Kogi—a sought-after fashion tastemaker and street style star known for his refreshing perspective on men's dressing for today.

In Japanese culture, there is the concept of hare (roughly translated as festive or extraordinary occasions) and its antonym is ke (roughly translated as ordinary, or day-to-day). It is often said that living a life of ke alone withers the spirit. Human beings need the occasional moment of hare, and they should dress accordingly.

Resolving this tension of dressing for both work and play, and for both formal and informal settings, is what has driven Poggy over two decades of design and curation. By mixing streetwear savvy with what is referred to in Japan as "Traditional" Western fashion, he challenges rigorous definitions of what is done or not done, inventing new ways of dressing up. In his own inimitable way, Poggy shares with readers how fun and appropriate it can be when you break the so-called rules. His sartorial approach is casual, but with a little effort: a hoodie layered under a tweed jacket, a tailored suit styled with sneakers and topped with a wide-brimmed hat, a basketball jersey paired with a cozy vintage coat.

In contrast to fashion titles devoted to the collections of one creator, Poggy Style is all about self-expression, and how inexpensive or lovingly worn items can be extremely versatile or can express one's individuality: a new wabi-sabi sensibility.

Motofumi "Poggy" Kogi is based in Tokyo and is a fashion curator and designer. He started working for UNITED ARROWS in 1997, and started his own independent practice in 2018, and his own label POGGYTHEMAN. Jun Takahashi is the founder and designer of Undercover. W. David Marx is an author of books on Japanese fashion culture.

Dressing for Work and Play

My personal life
Jacket & Coat

After the early days, the book "Poggy Style" has become a guide for many men who want to dress well. It's not just about the clothes, but also about the attitude and the way of thinking. The book is a must-read for anyone who wants to improve their style and confidence.

Karl Lagerfeld

A FASHION HISTORY

MARIE OTTAVI

An extraordinary biography of Karl Lagerfeld, based upon a series of rare, powerful, and emotional interviews—the real story, full of inside details, that repeatedly surprises and enlightens.

Ottavi enjoyed a rare degree of open and candid access to Lagerfeld in his later years, and this biography offers an unparalleled look into the iconic designer's complex personality and wide-ranging creativity. Lagerfeld himself wanted this to be a frank, honest, serious account that would be an invaluable resource for fashion lovers and admirers of his incomparable legacy. Unlike other recent books, this intimate portrait deftly reveals his true inner nature in his own words.

Based upon interviews with Lagerfeld over the course of two years prior to his death, this biography is further enriched with memories, stories, and anecdotes from close friends and associates including the Princess of Hanover, Bernard and Hélène Arnault, Silvia Fendi, Bruno Pavlovsky, Tom Ford, Alessandro Michele, Valentino, Carine Roitfeld, Naomi Campbell, Claudia Schiffer, Inès de La Fressange, Linda Evangelista, Tadao Ando, Fran Lebowitz, and others.

Lagerfeld was many things: inspired creator, witty raconteur, media darling, highly cultured, eccentric in his manners, insatiable at work, ultra-sensitive, and given to maintaining grudges. This narrative includes Lagerfeld's own especially perceptive insights into his relationship with Jacques de Bascher, his only true love, and how Yves Saint Laurent's later passion for de Bascher resulted in the infamous break in the longstanding friendship between the two couturiers.

Marie Ottavi is a well-known writer for the leading French daily, Libération, specializing in fashion, pop culture, and lifestyles. She is the author of the critically acclaimed biography of Jacques de Bascher published in 2017.

MadeMe

ERIN MAGEE, FOREWORD BY CHIOMA NNADI

Through images both intimate and provocative, Erin Magee, founder of MadeMe, presents the first comprehensive monograph of the one of first streetwear brands “by girls for girls.”

MadeMe rose to acclaim during a time when female and LGBTQ perspectives were missing from the streetwear landscape. Inspired by the effervescent energy of the 1990s when a female-first ethos was actively shaping music, clothing and culture, Magee has fostered the same spirit of enthusiasm for a new generation of it-girls, championing a truly singular and radically instinctive take on femininity.

In the brand’s early days, Magee enlisted the likes of Coco Gordon-Moore (Kim Gordon’s daughter) and Princess Nokia to star in campaigns while mentoring industry heavyweights like Paloma Elsesser, Lourdes Leon, Amandla Stenberg, and Beatrice Domond. The brand’s essence is reinforced by these dynamic, emotionally charged interactions with females across generations becoming more of an ecosystem than a brand. The MadeMe girl is radical because she rebels against the concept of who society says she should be, she is defiant because she is true—this feeling is always embodied through the garments she wears and the choices she makes. Communicating through ideas and interests across music, art, fashion, and culture, MadeMe has collaborated with Doc Martens, Alpha Industries, Fruits, Paul Frank, Converse, and X-Girl, translating its youthful design language to like-minded audiences through energetic design codes. Arranged by pure feeling rather than in a traditional chronological order, this publication features an extensive range of voices and talents harnessed by the brand over the years, including artwork by musician Cody Critchleah (SSION), artists Ally Bo, Shana Sadeghi-Ray, and Aneko, and photographer Petra Collins.

Erin Magee is the Chief Creative Officer of Supreme, where she started in 2004. During her tenure, she founded MadeMe. Chioma Nnadi was named head of editorial content for British Vogue in September 2023. Nnadi has worked for publications including the Evening Standard Magazine, Trace, The Fader, and Vogue.com. She also serves as the co-host for the Vogue podcast, The Run-Through.

AMBUSH

YOON AND VERBAL

The first large-format book on AMBUSH®, one of the most influential streetwear and accessories brands to come out of Japan in the last two decades. Offering a deep dive into the brand's teeming archive, this intuitively engineered monograph is a sleek essential for sneakerheads as well lovers of fashion, hip-hop, design, and architecture.

Founded in Tokyo in 2008, AMBUSH first gained notoriety for creating the "POW!" line of rings and pendants, a design heavily indebted to American pop-art and manga which took the world of hip-hop by storm. A multi-disciplinary fashion, jewelry and industrial design practice, AMBUSH is the brainchild of Korean-American designer YOON and Japanese-Korean performing artist VERBAL.

Championed from the very outset by the likes of Pharrell, NIGO® and Colette, YOON's jewelry designs often include bold motifs as seen in collections drawn from everyday objects such as office stationery, safety pins, and disposable lighters. Growing into a full fashion line that drew inspiration from the DIY aesthetic of German and Swiss rock-and-roll gangs from the 1960, campy horror films, surf and skate culture, and the apocalyptic anime of the 1980s and 1990s, AMBUSH's open embrace of pop-culture grew a devoted following well beyond Harajuku. With Kim Jones and the late Virgil Abloh as later admirers, AMBUSH's growing list of collaborators includes Dior, Louis Vuitton, Nike, Sacai, Off-White, and Billionaire Boys Club.

YOON is the designer of AMBUSH®. In 2018, YOON was appointed as the Dior Men jewelry line director. VERBAL is co-founder of AMBUSH® and a performing artist.

The Art of Dancehall

FLYER AND POSTER DESIGNS OF JAMAICAN DANCEHALL CULTURE

WALSHY FIRE

A definitive celebration of the distinctive art of poster and flyer design in the highly influential culture of Jamaican dancehall music, by one of the best-known voices in the genre.

Combining the energy and vibrancy of vernacular Jamaican art with the cultural insight that only original ephemera can bring, the flyers and posters collected in this book are testament to the creativity and spirit behind one of the most influential and enduring cultures in contemporary music.

Originating in Jamaica in the late 1970s, dancehall music is a club-friendly offshoot of reggae. The genre initially found particular resonance in the Jamaican diaspora and defined the soundsystem cultures that rose to prominence in New York and London in the 1980s and 1990s, which would influence the origins of hip hop. In much the same way that graffiti and paste-ups would for hip hop, the unique style of the artwork, coloring, and lettering of handmade flyers for dancehall nights became a visual language of the culture.

Drawing on unrivaled private collections from Jamaica, London, New York, and Tokyo, this book is a window onto the colorful and effervescent world of dancehall—at once celebrating the ingenuity and beauty of the DIY flyers themselves, and chronicling the evolution of DJs, records, and venues that made the genre into the musical and cultural phenomenon that continues to captivate audiences to this day.

Walshy Fire is a Jamaican American musician, DJ, MC, and producer, living and working in Miami. He is part of the dancehall-influenced group Major Lazer, alongside fellow DJs Diplo and Ape Drums.

The World Atlas of Football Stadiums

1000 ICONIC GROUNDS AND THEIR STORIES

JOHN GILLARD

This superbly illustrated guide tells the history of the Beautiful Game through the stories behind the world's most intriguing football (aka soccer) stadiums—from the most dramatic to the most remote to the great urban arenas.

This panoramic collection showcases stadiums, venues, and pitches, from the quirky to the historic, covering both men's and women's leagues, professional to amateur, wherever the game is played with enthusiasm and great style.

For those who love the sport, either from birthright or from newly kindled passion, there's a distinct and beloved resonance and local character to each stadium. This is one of soccer's great charms, and this book is a road map to a pilgrimage to 1000 arenas that anyone in love with the beautiful game would want to visit in person: some visionary and new, some ageing but iconic, some remote yet picturesque, some tumbledown, quirky yet historical and utterly lovable—but all with such genuine personality, the fans' hearts beat a little faster to see a match there.

This book covers the world and the game, from well-known shrines to amateur venues; from the Faroe Islands to Argentina's storied La Bombonera. Along the way, it gives the reader the feeling of being at the game, immersed in the crowd experience—whether it be a rabid 100,000 national fans cheering their team or watching with two men and a dog in the Scottish Highlands.

John Gillard has worked for professional teams including the English Premier League's Brighton & Hove Albion and the Bundesliga's Union Berlin as well as for companies such as Adidas, Copa90, and NSS Sports. He is a feature writer for No Place Like Home magazine and also the author of Coffee Break Writing.

The legendary artist and musician as seen through the most comprehensive collection of his drawings ever published.

A significant figure in outsider, lo-fi, and alternative scenes, Daniel Johnston inspired musicians and listeners for decades. From his origins in the Austin scene in the mid-1980s, where he performed at local venues while working at McDonald's, to his appearance on MTV and championing by Kurt Cobain, to eventual world fame, Johnston's singular compositions and raw lyrics earned him lifelong fans.

Predating his interest in music and continuing alongside it, art was Johnston's longest-running passion. This publication presents drawings spanning four decades of Johnston's production, including many rare and previously unseen pieces. The artist's brightly colored illustrations, incorporating figures from pop culture, devils, and heroes, blended with his own original characters, range from his iconic "Jeremiah the Innocent Frog" to surrealist landscapes. With the support of Johnston's family and estate, the first comprehensive project since his passing includes remembrances from his brother, musicians, and artists, and benefits the Hi, How Are You Project.

Kembra Pfahler

CONTRIBUTIONS BY RICK OWENS, JOHN WATERS,
ANOHNI AND HANS ULRICH OBRIST

A life in pictures of a New York City performance artist, musician, and icon.

New York City icon Kembra Pfahler has terrorized and tantalized audiences since her arrival in the Lower East Side in the early 1980s. Originally associated with the Cinema of Transgression, Pfahler supported her early films with work at an independent porn studio. In the 1990s, she launched The Voluptuous Horror of Karen Black, a rock band compared to Kiss, Alice Cooper, and White Zombie.

Nude and covered in paint, with blackened teeth and bouffant hair, Pfahler's reputation for wild performances reached far beyond the Lower East Side. Elements of kabuki theater, surfing, and enormous ad-hoc props appeared in her legendary shows and performance art. Pfahler titillated gallery-goers with openings featuring dozens of painted women, butt-prints, and performances involving endurance and strength. Her extended visual lexicon incorporates occult imagery, bondage, and pin-ups; experimental sets featuring eight-foot vinyl records and miniature Statues of Liberty that transform as they reappear in her work.

Through teaching, activism, and performance art, Pfahler serves as a mentor to students and, in recent years, muse to designers including Rick Owens, Casey Cadwallader, and Alessandro Michele. Collecting memories from collaborators and five decades of ephemera, performance documentation, and more, this book celebrates Kembra Pfahler as counter-cultural star.

Rick Owens is an American fashion designer from Porterville, California. John Waters is an American filmmaker, writer, actor, and artist. Anohni (formerly of Antony and the Johnsons) is a UK-born singer, songwriter, and visual artist. Hans Ulrich Obrist is a Swiss art curator, critic, and art historian.

Feuerman

SUPERREALIST SCULPTURES

EDITED BY DEMETRIO PAPARONI

The most comprehensive illustrated monograph to date on American artist Carole A. Feuerman, a pioneer of superrealism in sculpture.

Carole Feuerman is best known for her figurative sculptures depicting swimmers and dancers. She is the only woman to sculpt in this style, creating lifelike works for both indoor and outdoor spaces.

During the rise of postmodernism in the mid-seventies, Feuerman drew inspiration from historical imagery and styles while creating 3D illustrations for prominent magazines and tour publications, featuring rock icons like the Rolling Stones and Alice Cooper. Her debut life casting in 1975, showcased on the cover of the National Lampoon, marked a significant artistic achievement.

Transitioning into the late 1970s, Feuerman delved into creating fragmented erotic compositions, adding complexity to her work. As a narrative artist, she infuses her sculptures with symbolic depth, inviting viewers into a dialogue. Informed by postmodernist thought, the 1980s saw Feuerman creating lifelike, full-figure superrealistic sculptures, solidifying her artistic career and legacy.

Her passion for water and the ocean stems from her childhood at the beach. Feuerman describes the sensation of water droplets on her skin after swimming and the intricate patterns they formed as captivating. The beach became her sanctuary—a place of escape and tranquility. During a beach outing with her children, she encountered a swimmer with water droplets streaming down her face, radiating a sense of pride and accomplishment. This encounter catalyzed her first swimmer sculpture titled Catalina (1978).

This lavishly illustrated book covers Feuerman's entire career spanning five decades, and features more than 200 works.

Demetrio Paparoni is an Italian art critic, writer, curator, and essayist. He has written several publications focused on the contemporary Asian world.

Wayne Thiebaud

SUMMER DAYS

STEVEN NASH AND MARY OKIN,
WITH ACQUAVELLA GALLERIES

Organized with the Wayne Thiebaud Foundation, this exhibition catalogue presents the work of the beloved West Coast painter on the theme of the American summer.

This book tracks the career of the artist over six decades, revealing his retained interest in lighthearted subjects while casting them in traditional modes of painting. It celebrates the artist's regard for the delights of the quintessentially American summer experience, from its sweet ice creams and chilled soda pops to beach games and barbecues, melting a gray winter into a fading memory. The catalogue features paintings from the 1960s through the 2000s of beach scenes, hot dogs, ice creams, beach balls, and bathing suits.

Most of the works come directly from the foundation and are rarely seen in public. More than 60 paintings show the artist's versatility, dazzling technique, and rich use of color, as well as a sense of playfulness—a longing for a sweeter and more nostalgic time.

Steven A. Nash is former president of the board of directors of the Richard Diebenkorn Foundation and former director of the Palm Springs Art Museum. Mary Okin is a professor in the women's studies department at the University of Maine.

Urs Fischer: Monumental Sculpture

CONTRIBUTIONS BY PRIYA BHATNAGAR, URS FISCHER, JESSICA MORGAN AND RÓISÍN TAPPONI

This extensive monograph gathers nearly sixty large-scale sculptures and installations made by Urs Fischer over the past twenty-five years.

The nearly four-hundred-page volume groups works under thematic headings such as “holes,” “lines,” and “intersecting objects,” illustrating how the Swiss artist has explored and returned to specific sculptural problems over decades, and how his approaches have changed with technology.

In color photographs and short texts, the book illuminates the enormous variety of materials—including food, wax, unfired clay, found objects, stainless steel, cast bronze, and milled aluminum—through which Fischer has investigated ideas of space, perception, representation, and entropy. It documents works that use subtractive gestures such as cutting holes in walls or digging into the ground, as well as the Big Clays series of monumental public sculptures, in which a simple creative gesture is materialized at architectural scale.

Shipped with a printed cardboard support to protect its die-cut front cover, the book features an introductory essay by Róisín Tapponi that delves into Fischer’s poetics; a conversation between Jessica Morgan and the artist that examines his interest in scale and traces the evolution of his production processes; and entries on the artworks by book editor Priya Bhatnagar.

Titus Kaphar: Exhibiting Forgiveness

CULTURE AND POWER

TITUS KAPHAR

Titus Kaphar’s moving screenplay Exhibiting Forgiveness (2024) tells the story of a father and son who reunite after years of estrangement and follows their choices as to how to make peace with the past.

The film follows Tarrell, a successful Black painter, who reunites with his estranged father, La’Ron. Having endured years of La’Ron’s addiction and abuse as a child, the trauma of Tarrell’s past reverberates throughout his life and art. Facing his newly sober father, Tarrell must reconcile himself with his childhood and determine how to move forward. With poignant performances by André Holland, Andra Day, John Earl Jelks, and Aunjanue Ellis-Taylor, Exhibiting Forgiveness masterfully depicts the cycle of abuse and comments on the power dynamics of the contemporary art world.

Juxtaposing a marked-up script with film stills, this publication captures the transformation of Exhibiting Forgiveness into a feature film. It also illustrates fifteen paintings that Kaphar created for the movie to showcase Tarrell’s vibrant artistic practice.

Titus Kaphar’s work is included in the collections of the Museum of Modern Art and the Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York, amongst others. He is also the founder of NXTHVN, a national arts model that empowers emerging artists and curators of color through education and access.

Frankenthaler

REVISED AND EXPANDED EDITION

JOHN ELDERFIELD

Frankenthaler completely reimagines John Elderfield's landmark 1989 monograph, making it the most comprehensive book on the artist to date.

Helen Frankenthaler (1928–2011) has long been recognized as one of the great American artists of the twentieth century. A member of the second generation of American postwar abstract painters, she is widely credited with expanding the possibilities of abstraction through her invention of the soak-stain technique, and her highly personal references to figuration and landscape.

This monograph is a revised and expanded edition of John Elderfield's landmark monograph (Frankenthaler, Harry N. Abrams, Inc., 1989) for the twenty-first century. It includes updated text throughout, along with a new chapter that covers work made post-1988. There are over 300 full-color reproductions of artworks by Frankenthaler, along with nearly 100 comparative illustrations and documentary photographs. As with the original book, this promises to be the definitive volume on Frankenthaler's career, written by the leading expert on her oeuvre.

John Elderfield is chief curator emeritus of painting and sculpture at the Museum of Modern Art, New York, and was formerly the inaugural Allen R. Adler, Class of 1967, Distinguished Curator and Lecturer at the Princeton University Art Museum, New Jersey. He has written major monographic exhibition catalogues on a number of artists, including Kurt Schwitters (1985), Henri Matisse (1992), and Willem de Kooning (2011).

Fallingwater

LIVING WITH AND IN ART

EDITED BY JUSTIN GUNTHER AND SCOTT W. PERKINS, CONTRIBUTIONS BY DONALD ALBRECHT,
JEANNINE FALINO, JAMES OLES, JENNIFER WAY,
CHARLOTTE ASHBY AND REBECCA HAGEN

A national treasure and UNESCO World Heritage Site, Fallingwater is a total work of art. This book is an exciting new look at an architectural icon, seen now in its fullness as a creation of art, decorative arts, and artisanal craftsmanship, all carefully aligned with its magical natural setting.

Designed by Frank Lloyd Wright for Edgar Kaufmann Sr. and his wife, Liliane Kaufmann, Fallingwater is lauded for its architectural daring and drama. Here the Kaufmanns sought to live in harmony with the natural world. The rooms of the house reflect this ideal and remain suffused with a natural aesthetic that embraces stone and wood, handwork and craftsmanship. In the living room, the great stone floor flows riverlike toward the horizon of Wright-designed built-in sofas and large-paned casement windows, where views open to balconies, to forest, and to cascading falls. From here "the hatch" opens to flowing river below. Pools and rivers were beautiful and for swimming. Relaxed elegance was the order of the day. Delicacy, softness, tactility are everywhere in evidence.

This atmosphere pervades the whole and serves as an organic setting for the Kaufmanns' collection of objects, paintings, textiles, sculpture, and products of craft that enrich and awaken the corners and nooks, secreted here and there on the multiple layers and throughout the rooms of the house. But much more than the sum of its parts and what it holds, Fallingwater itself is art, total and sublime.

Justin W. Gunther is director of Fallingwater and vice president, Western Pennsylvania Conservancy. Scott W. Perkins is director of preservation and collections at Fallingwater. Donald Albrecht is a curator and author. Jeannine Falino is a curator of American decorative arts. James Oles is a lecturer in art at Wellesley College. Jennifer Way is a professor at the College of Visual Arts and Design, University of North Texas. Charlotte Ashby is an art and design historian. Rebecca Hagen is the registrar at Fallingwater.

Andrew Wyeth at Kuerner Farm

THE EYE OF THE EARTH

PHOTOGRAPHS BY JOSHUA MCHUGH,
CONTRIBUTIONS BY KAREN BAUMGARTNER AND
JAMES WELLING

IN ASSOCIATION WITH THE BRANDYWINE MUSEUM OF ART
AND REYNOLDA HOUSE MUSEUM OF AMERICAN ART

The most private of artists was beguiled by a hardscrabble farm and its residents down the road from his studio, revealing some of his most personal friendships, and yielding some of his most iconic paintings.

Andrew Wyeth first discovered the haunting beauty of the farm owned by German immigrants Karl and Anna Kuerner on his boyhood rambles in Pennsylvania's bucolic Brandywine River Valley, and it would captivate him for the rest of his life, appearing as subject of more than one thousand landscapes, interiors, and portraits. As traced throughout this volume, just what Wyeth uncovered beneath the farm's austere facade is key to understanding his singular artistic vision.

This intimate look at Wyeth's decades-long connection to Kuerner Farm and the people there reveals not only the source of many of the artist's most deeply resonant paintings but also the secrets that have given his deceptively simple art its mysterious pull on the popular imagination for generations. As Wyeth became one of the country's most celebrated artists, he continued to return to the farm, the Kuerners, and to the enigmatic Helga Testorf, creating timeless portraits from an experience of deep looking and charting a way toward unearthing from the ordinary, the extraordinary.

The Four Seasons

GREAT WORKS OF JAPANESE WOODBLOCK PRINTING

AMÉLIE BALCOU

This collection of woodblock prints celebrates the seasons and is designed as a Japanese-style accordion-fold book with open binding and slipcased with a booklet for the text.

Embracing seasonal change is an important part of Japan's native belief system and an enduring theme of its creative expression. Japanese artists—including Hokusai, Hiroshige, Harunobu, and many others—have long celebrated the endless cycle and rhythm of nature and the fleeting transience and beauty of the seasons, depicting common customs from picnics welcoming spring under blossoming cherry trees to ritual offerings made to the autumnal harvest moon.

The seasonal iconography includes recurring plant and wildlife elements: plum blossoms, irises, morning glories, cranes, geese flying in migratory formation. Some pictorial compositions focus upon a single time of year, but many encompass all four seasons together.

This beautiful and elegant collection makes the ideal book for anyone interested in the art and culture of Japan. The classic woodblocks in this collection express essential truths about the natural world and the evanescence of human experience in a visual idiom that, while distinctively Japanese, has great universal appeal.

Amélie Balcou is an art historian with a degree from the Sorbonne, Paris. She has written extensively on Asian art and is the author of several books in French about Japanese woodblock prints.

Cherry Blossoms in Bloom

GREAT WORKS OF JAPANESE
WOODBLOCK PRINTING

ANNE SEFRIOUI

Gorgeously displayed in an accordion-fold binding, this is a visual ode to the beauty of cherry blossoms—harbingers of spring—by legendary artists of Japanese woodblock printing.

Cherry blossoms are beloved signs of spring renewal celebrated by garden clubs, botanic gardens, and popular festivals. This collection features over seventy works printed in a special format that allows for an unbroken, ever-scrolling display of these detailed, jewel-like artworks accompanied by an informative booklet in a handsome slipcase.

The cherry tree, a traditional symbol of Japan, heralds spring with a spectacular display of subtle color variation spreading like a soft, fragrant cloud over the countryside giving rise to hanami, the ancient cherry blossom festival chronicled by great artists from Hokusai and Hiroshige to Keibun, Bairei, and Hasui. This book showcases classic woodblock prints that highlight the intense yet ephemeral beauty of this unique floral moment—an occasion where family and friends gather in celebration to reflect upon the transience of all things and the fragility of existence. The fleeting beauty of the cherry blossom provides the occasion to contemplate and find wisdom in nature's cycle of life, death, and rebirth.

This collection is perfect for fans of Japanese art and culture as well as anyone who appreciates the beauty and lore of this beloved flowering tree—long treasured in Japan but now also synonymous with the US capital.

Sam McKinniss

CONTRIBUTIONS BY NATASHA STAGG
AND JARRETT EARNEST

The artist's debut monograph delves into his vibrant paintings, capturing pop culture icons with wit and pathos.

Drawing inspiration from iconic figures and imagery from popular media, press photos, and other artworks, McKinniss transforms familiar images of bold-faced names—including Leonardo DiCaprio, Michelle Pfeiffer, Whitney Houston, Dolly Parton, Britney Spears, Halle Berry, Joan Didion, Lil Nas X, and Mariah Carey, to name a few—into strikingly original works. By reinterpreting snapshots of celebrities and working with images with an inbuilt cultural power, McKinniss infuses them with a new layer of depth and significance—making them more powerful, expressive, and ambiguous. His portraits are not mere copies but rather captured moments of collective memory, heightened with emotion and drama.

Transitioning from painting friends to internet-sourced imagery, McKinniss taps into emotional wells sublimated within the drama of entertainment, theater, pageantry, presentation, fashion, and glamour in his work. Oscillating between being a fan and an idol, McKinniss illustrates complex roles and identities existing in his art.

Sam McKinniss (b. 1985) works and lives in Brooklyn, New York, and Kent, Connecticut. His figurative paintings are most often sourced from popular culture, the entertainment industry, sports, and the internet. Natasha Stagg is a writer and editor based in New York City. Jarrett Earnest is a writer and curator based in New York City. The Fricks Collect

AN AMERICAN FAMILY AND THE EVOLUTION OF TASTE DURING THE GILDED AGE

IAN WARDROPPER, FOREWORD BY JULIAN FELLOWES
IN ASSOCIATION WITH THE FRICK COLLECTION

Before his New York home became a museum, Henry Clay Frick engaged some of his era's most important art dealers to build a notable collection and the best decorators to create suitable Gilded Age interiors to accommodate the works. This story traces the journey that led to the creation of one of America's finest art collections.

At its heart, this story centers on Frick and his daughter Helen Clay Frick, both pivotal figures in the formation of the renowned Frick Collection. The volume delves into the Fricks' exposure to and acquisition of some of the finest art of their time. With an exquisite blend of textual narrative and ample imagery showcasing masterpieces and the sumptuous interiors of homes in Pittsburgh and New York, the book offers a captivating narrative of ambition, wealth, and cultural patronage.

White, Allom & Co. and Elsie de Wolfe worked with Frick on the decoration of his houses and influenced the choice of many furnishings the owner acquired and that formed the backdrop for his paintings. As was commonplace at the time, decorators often collaborated with dealers in creating spaces suitable for the esteemed works of art. Further influential figures who shaped the era's cultural landscape include Frick's business partner Andrew Carnegie and noted art dealers Joseph Duveen in London and Charles Carstairs of M. Knoedler & Co. in New York. Presenting the glittering halls of their homes and the masterpieces adorning the walls of The Frick Collection, this volume is a testament to the enduring allure of art and the power of patronage in shaping cultural institutions.

Ian Wardropper is the Anna-Maria and Stephen Kellen Director of The Frick Collection. Julian Fellowes is an English novelist, director, and screenwriter, best known as the creator and head writer of the popular TV series Downton Abbey.

Vermeer's Love Letters

ROBERT FUCCI

IN ASSOCIATION WITH THE FRICK COLLECTION

The theme of writing and receiving letters, a subject that recurs frequently in the work of Johannes Vermeer, is given dramatic tension in three iconic paintings in which elegantly dressed women eagerly await correspondence, subtly hinting at themes of love and longing.

Centered on the motif of letter writing, this book unites three iconic Vermeer paintings—Mistress and Maid (The Frick Collection), The Love Letter (Rijksmuseum), and Woman Writing a Letter, with Her Maid (National Gallery of Ireland)—delving into the enigmatic allure of the Dutch painter's work. Vermeer's artistry is renowned for encapsulating moments of intrigue and intimacy amidst the domestic scenes of Dutch life. Through masterful manipulation of light and perspective, he imbues his paintings with symbolic depth, exploring themes of communication, secrecy, and emotional connection.

Through meticulous analysis, this publication explores the profound thematic undercurrents binding these masterpieces, shedding light on Vermeer's legacy and his ability to capture moments of intimacy with unparalleled depth. Examining the implied and explicit meanings of the works, the publication offers a scholarly dialogue between past and present interpretations, questioning whether the works serve as complex allegories or straight-forward depictions of Dutch upper-middle-class life. Additionally, other paintings by Vermeer, Gerard ter Borch, Gabriel Metsu, and Rembrandt are explored, addressing the relevance of their comparable images and offering a fresh perspective on the enduring relevance of Vermeer's artistry.

Robert Fucci is a specialist in seventeenth-century Dutch and Flemish art, a lecturer in art history at the University of Amsterdam, and a contributor to the exhibition catalogue Vermeer: On Reflection (2021).

SHOOTING FROM THE HEART

CONTRIBUTIONS BY SAM ADAMS, ALLISON KEMMERER AND GORDON WILKINS

IN ASSOCIATION WITH ADDISON GALLERY OF AMERICAN ART AND ALLEN MEMORIAL ART MUSEUM

A revelatory look at the singular artist best known for her deeply personal and poetic, visceral, and often allegorical works.

Published to coincide with a traveling exhibition that explores June Leaf's (1929–2024) uncategorizable and endlessly experimental oeuvre, this volume features new scholarship alongside reflections by the artist's peers, Joan Jonas and Kara Walker. Drawing from numerous museum and private collections as well as Leaf's vast personal archive, it is the most exhaustive survey of her career to date.

Leaf's enchanting and provocative kinetic sculptures, assemblages, paintings, and drawings are intermingled and juxtaposed, revealing the artist's sustained engagement with such motifs and themes as theater and performance, dance, gender, motion, urban life, mythology, and interpersonal relationships. She skillfully blends mediums and materials in unconventional and intuitive ways, resulting in compositions where playful and combative figures and contraptions emerge from inventive combinations of brass, copper, tin, found metal rods and blades, wood, and paint.

Rough and Ready

A TRUE HISTORY OF COWBOY BOOTS

ELIZABETH SEMMELHACK

IN ASSOCIATION WITH BATA SHOE MUSEUM, TORONTO

A new history of cowboy boots explores the art of a Western classic and American icon.

This book looks at the history, beauty, and cultural meanings of the cowboy boot from its inception just after the Civil War to its use today. Rough and Ready is arranged in five chapters featuring interviews and contributions from a wide range of boot makers, scholars, and celebrities. The first chapter, Real, provides a history of the origin of the cowboy boot and the real cowboys who wore them. The second chapter, Rodeo, looks at the beginning of Western myth-making through the development of Wild West Shows, rodeos, and the use of cowboy boots in early film. The rise of “dude ranches” and their impact on fashion are also explored. Chapter three, Rhinestone, focuses on costuming and Country Western music, including Nudie boots, and the post-war interest in the cowboy. Chapter four, Red, considers the return of Western appeal in politics and fashion from the 1980s to today. Chapter five, Reclaimed, looks at a new generation of Western style as demonstrated by performers and creatives including Beyoncé and Pharrell.

Elizabeth Semmelhack is the creative director and senior curator of the Bata Shoe Museum, and her work focuses on the intersections of fashion, economics, and gender with a particular interest in the history of footwear. She has curated over twenty exhibitions for the Bata Shoe Museum, including the blockbuster traveling exhibition The Rise of Sneaker Culture. The Art of Native American Washoe Basketry

ANN M. WOLFE, JOANN NEVERS,
CATHERINE S. FOWLER, DARLA GAREY-SAGE
AND MARVIN COHODAS

IN ASSOCIATION WITH THE NEVADA MUSEUM OF ART

This large-scale book presents breathtaking Native American basketry made by the Washoe people who have lived in the Lake Tahoe region of California and Nevada for millennia.

This book explores fine art and functional basketry made by Washoe weavers, who are recognized for their intricate and meticulous weaving techniques and complex designs. Drawing inspiration and natural materials from their ancestral homelands, Washoe baskets reflect the deep cultural reverence of their makers for the environment, particularly the sacred site of Lake Tahoe, the surrounding Sierra Nevada, and adjacent valleys. Among Washoe weavers, Louisa Keyser, also known as Datsolalee, is widely regarded as one of the most innovative, important, and famous basketmakers in North America. The book provides a deeper understanding of the cultural, historical, and political contexts in which these remarkable baskets were created, making it an essential read for anyone interested in Indigenous art and culture.

Ann M. Wolfe is chief curator and associate director at the Nevada Museum of Art. JoAnn Nevers (1936–2020) was a writer, historian, and Elder of the Washoe Tribe of Nevada and California. Catherine S. Wonder Women

ART OF THE ASIAN DIASPORA

KATHY HUANG, CONTRIBUTIONS BY ALEESA PITCHAMARN ALEXANDER, GENNY LIM, DELIA CAI, KEVIN KWAN AND FARIHA RÓISÍN

The first book to highlight Asian diasporic women and nonbinary artists engaged with figurative painting, sculpture, and drawing.

Genny Lim's poem "Wonder Woman" follows a narrator who observes the everyday lives of Asian women—across generations, countries, and socioeconomic backgrounds—wondering if their experiences reflect her own. The poem centers Asian women as its protagonists and asks what commonalities exist between them.

Often underrepresented in museum collections and important exhibitions, Asian diasporic women and nonbinary artists are now receiving recognition; this book expands on two landmark shows of figurative art curated by Kathy Huang, organized in response to increasing anti-Asian racism and violence during the Covid-19 pandemic.

The forty featured artists, each represented with four or more works and a personal statement, subvert stereotypes and assert their identities in places where they have historically been marginalized. While some featured artists explore identity through self-portraiture, others depict the heroines in their lives, offering works that highlight family, community, and history. Several of the works address colonial and patriarchal structures in the West, legends, and myths. With essays, paintings, sculptures, and drawings created within the last four years, this book is a current, open-ended collection of contemporary Asian diasporic experiences.

Kathy Huang is an independent curator and Managing Director at Jeffrey Deitch. Genny Lim is an American poet, playwright, and performer. Aleesa Pitchamarn Alexander is an Associate Curator of Modern and Contemporary Art at the Cantor Arts Center at Stanford University. Delia Cai is a writer and author of the media and culture newsletter, Deez Links. Kevin Kwan is a Singaporean-born American novelist and writer of satirical novels, including Crazy Rich Asians. Fariha Róisín is a multidisciplinary artist and writer.

EMAJENDAT

LAUREN HALSEY, CONTRIBUTIONS BY HANS ULRICH OBRIST, LIZZIE CAREY-THOMAS, BETTINA KOREK, LERONN P. BROOKS, HARMONY HOLIDAY, WILL ALEXANDER, DOUGLAS KEARNEY AND GEORGE CLINTON

IN ASSOCIATION WITH SERPENTINE, LONDON

Inspired by the South Central Los Angeles neighborhood that the artist and her family have lived in for generations, Halsey's expansive practice teems with the signs and symbols that populate that urban landscape and celebrates the community's vitality and a creative form of resistance to advancing gentrification and the threat of erasure.

The artist's work centers on the Black community, both aesthetically and materially. Halsey gathers icons of pride, autonomy, initiative, and resilience from local vernacular sources recontextualizing and reinterpreting them for her utopic fantasies of the city. Both celebrating Black cultural expressions, her work—which includes wall works, multiroom installations, and immersive outdoor environments—is a potent reminder of the importance of community and home.

Beyond the signs and symbols of contemporary South Central, Halsey employs the iconography of ancient Egypt as a means to reclaim lost legacies, drawing inspiration from Afrofuturism—a transcultural movement blending science fiction with aspects of Black art and culture—and the utopian architecture proposed in the 1960s by Archigram and Superstudio.

Lauren Halsey has been the subject of solo exhibitions and has been featured in group exhibitions around the world. Hans Ulrich Obrist is the artistic director of the Serpentine, London. Lizzie Carey-Thomas is chief curator of the Serpentine, London. Bettina Korek is CEO of the Serpentine, London. Dr. LeRon P. The Wrigley Building

THE MAKING OF AN ICON

ROBERT SHAROFF
 PHOTOGRAPHS BY WILLIAM ZBAREN,
 COMMENTARIES BY TIM SAMUELSON,
 INTRODUCTION BY JOHN VINCI

An in-depth look at America's historic skyscraper and Chicago's most iconic building.

This is the captivating story of the spectacular architecture of the century-old Wrigley Building—its design, construction, and enduring significance as one of Chicago's most emblematic buildings. Through meticulous research and spectacular photography, the book unearths a century's worth of architectural, social, and business history, shedding light on many aspects of the Wrigley Building for the first time.

The Wrigley represents the high-water mark of Beaux Arts Classicism in the city, a gleaming white palazzo at the head of Chicago's grandest boulevard, Michigan Avenue. With lavish terra-cotta ornamentation, it was Chicago's tallest building when it opened in 1921. The book focuses on the intertwined stories of William Wrigley Jr., the larger-than-life founder of the chewing gum empire, and Charles Gerhard Beersman, the relatively unknown architect who, mentored by architect Julia Morgan, brought the building to life.

With stunning new photography alongside archival images, renderings, and original blueprints and drawings, this volume is a must-have for any architecture enthusiast. It unveils a fresh perspective on this architectural marvel as well as a wealth of fascinating social history illuminating the building's significance as more than just a structural landmark but as a nexus of Chicago's cultural, social, and business evolution. The book incorporates multiple paper stocks and two gatefolds.

Robert Sharoff is a Chicago-based architectural writer and author. Tim Samuelson is a Chicago cultural historian and works for the city's Commission on Chicago Landmarks. John Vinci is a Chicago-based American architect. William Zbaren is an architectural photographer for the New York Times, Architectural Record, and other publications.

American Psycho: How to Make a Killing in Business... and Life

BY PATRICK BATEMAN

Inspired by the film American Psycho, a darkly humorous collection of tongue-in-cheek advice on how to make it in the cutthroat world of business, as well as pointers about work/life balance, dating, and personal style.

Since its release in 2000, the film American Psycho, starring Christian Bale as Patrick Bateman, has been lauded as a searing send-up of toxic masculinity and 1980s materialism. How to Make a Killing in Business . . . and Life draws upon the film's macabre, campy humor, resulting in a funny advice book of sorts, with recommendations on how to slash the competition and dealing with the challenges of letting work bleed into personal life. The book combines dynamic art with darkly witty wisdom about how to get that coveted reservation at Dorsia, the dos and don'ts of choosing a business card, deep dives into the importance of pop music groups like Huey Lewis and the News, and ideas on how to dispose of your rivals. This compendium of tips is the perfect gift for fans of film, horror, and humor.

Patrick Bateman is the fictional investment banker/psychopath at the heart of the 2000 cult classic film American Psycho.

KILLER TIPS ON LOOKING GOOD

2

OBLITERATE YOUR COLLEAGUES WITH YOUR SENSE OF STYLE

Nails, manicures and grooming have been elevated and embraced by society in recent years, your single straight male colleague will always look to someone who cuts a swath through the office as well as you for good fashion advice. But you can't spend all day on the phone making their decisions for them without severely cutting into your productivity or reflecting their inferior sense of style. Simply and concisely offer that they should be wearing slacks that are proportionate to their physique, and they really should make it Valentino G-Straps. While there are different dos and don'ts on wearing a bold-colored dress—someone knows a bold-colored shirt calls for a solid-colored or discretely patterned neck and tie—they should keep up on dots on the latest trends. When going for a haircut or shave, they should also opt for the other 15%, unless their style is the object of the sales, in which case they shouldn't tip anything at all. And tell them Patrick sent you.

WHEN WORK BLEEDS INTO PERSONAL LIFE

SOLUTIONS FOR WHEN YOU FEEL YOUR SOCIAL MASK SLIPPING

Often, your social circle can consist of your work friends. And in the world of murder and mayhem, the mergers and acquisitions, your work "friends" are actually work adversaries, and much talk can be going, especially if you're not people you just spend time with at work. To keep things moving, pretend as if you're not, and pepper the conversation with fake, hollow facts about the things you care about, like cancer rates, pop song sales, or quotes from serial killers.

Trout of North America Card Deck

JAMES PROSEK

This beautiful, information-packed deck—a bucket list for the serious angler and introduction for the novice—is an encyclopedia yet smaller than a fly box.

The trout of North America range from the Pacific to the Atlantic, and from the Arctic Circle to the mountains of Western Mexico. With the passion of an angler and the stunning attention to detail of a field scientist, artist James Prosek journeyed thousands of miles through the United States, Canada and Mexico to depict nearly 60 subspecies of North American trout.

Those works are now reproduced here, detailing the diversity and brilliant range of colors in the species in vivid watercolors. On the back of each card is an informative description of that trout, including its region and distinctive markings. Each card offers the experience of standing in a clear stream with a seasoned guide at your side to explain what makes each trout special.

No other card deck shows all of the popular varieties, much less the rare, exotic, and in some cases extinct species and subspecies, including char; Apache, Gila, and Mexican trout; rainbow, redband, and golden trout; cutthroat trout; brown trout; and Atlantic salmon.

After his first book, Trout: An Illustrated History, James Prosek was called “the Audubon of the fishing world” by the New York Times. Prosek has published more than a dozen books and exhibited his art globally, from the Yale University Art Gallery and the Philadelphia Museum of Art to the Asia Society Hong Kong Center, the Royal Academy of Arts in London, and Nouveau Musée National de Monaco.

Salento Dwellings

MEDITERRANEAN SIGNS

EDITED BY LUCIANA DI VIRGILIO
PHOTOGRAPHS BY FILIPPO BAMBERGHI
TEXT BY PATRIZIA PICCININI

A photo book dedicated to the elegant residences of Salento, the southern area of Puglia that has become one of the most sought-after destinations internationally.

Lower Salento, the so-called “heel of Italy,” is a verdant plain south of Lecce overlooking two seas, the Adriatic and the Ionian. The area is strongly characterized by its territory and its color palette: the greens of the Mediterranean scrub and olive groves, the red earth, the warm shades of limestone, the dazzling white of the walls painted in lime, the intense blue of the sea, and the light of the south that envelops everything.

In recent years, Salento has been discovered by an international public that understands its uniqueness and has chosen it as an ideal place for a retreat. Rural houses and old buildings have been carefully restored and transformed into private homes of great beauty.

This book selects some of the most elegant and original of these: farms and historic buildings that differ in terms of their age, style, and taste, but all of which are imbued with the Mediterranean charm of that preserved corner of Puglia.

All the homes have been freshly photographed by Filippo Bamberghi, with views and decorative details of the houses and glimpses of the surrounding landscape.

A text by journalist Patrizia Piccinini, based on interviews with the owners of the houses, recounts the history of the buildings, the genesis of the projects, and the bond between the owners and the territory.

Luciana Di Virgilio founded Di Virgilio Veneziano with artist Gianni Veneziano as a studio for interior and product design. Filippo Bamberghi is a Milan-based architecture, interiors, and portrait photographer. Mediterranean Homes

THE ART OF EMBRACING LIGHT

EDITED BY ORNA TAMIR SCHESTOWITZ,
PHOTOGRAPHS BY DUDI HASSON,
TEXT BY BETH DUNLOP

Orna Tamir Schestowitz is an Israeli design journalist and art curator whose work sparks a conversation on the intricate interplay between humans and nature.

Schestowitz is a strong believer that our homes should create a sense of belonging and togetherness. Growing up, she became a fan of the mix-and-match approach, placing a modern stainless steel island by an old dining area, an African dresser next to an Eames chair. Schestowitz doesn't believe in design dos and don'ts; she believes only in an intuitive harmony of space, color, and light. Her rooms are infused with travel souvenirs, art acquisitions, family pieces, and historical patterns; the rich palettes and bold mixture of patterns create spaces that feel intrinsically inviting and cozy.

The visual interaction of material, color, and composition combined with her ability to create spaces that are both beautifully curated and comfortably livable are as strong as her passion for the Mediterranean Sea, archeology, and ceramics, driving forces of her restless research and experimentation within the realm of glaze and warm materials like wood, straw, and rope.

In this monograph she celebrates her homes across the Mediterranean with the help of the renowned Israeli fashion photographer Dudi Hasson who captured the essence of her Tel Aviv, Cap Ferrat, and Paros residences, revealing the soul-stirring threads that weave these places together. The visual journey is enriched by a selection of texts from the esteemed US author and design writer Beth Dunlop, stemming from a series of conversations with Schestowitz.

Beth Dunlop is an Alicia Patterson Fellow who writes about the environmental, cultural, and architectural consequences of overbuilding. She was a Pulitzer-nominated architecture critic for the Miami Herald for more than two decades.

OEO Studio: Compelling Minimalism

TEXT BY CATHERINE SHAW, CONTRIBUTIONS BY TAKAFUMI KAWAKAMI, HELEN NONINI, RENÉ REDZEPI AND ANNE-LOUISE SOMMER

The award-winning design studio OEO Studio, based in Copenhagen, boasts a diverse oeuvre that includes residential architecture, hospitality, commercial interiors, product design, and creative direction.

This visual journey originates from the inspiration that drives OEO's co-founders, Thomas Lykke and Anne-Marie Bueemann, and offers a detailed exploration of their design philosophy known as Compelling Minimalism. This approach is characterized by disciplined restraint, attention to detail, coherence, and elegance, driven by a unique combination of Scandinavian values of clarity and a deep appreciation of Asian aesthetics.

The designers' unwavering commitment to elementary composition means their work emphasizes clean lines, natural materials, and thoughtful compositions that prioritize meaning and authenticity. OEO's overriding considerations are warm, welcoming, unpretentious interiors that are comfortable and convivial, with space for contemplation: human values come first. Cuaik

SPACES FOR CONTEMPORARY LIVING

WITH A CONVERSATION BETWEEN
JORGE MÉNDEZ BLAKE AND SANTIAGO CUAIK
FOREWORD BY ALFONSO LÓPEZ BAZ

The first monograph showcasing the vibrant and contemporary interior designs of the Mexico-based studio Cuaik.

Cuaik's interior designs are characterized by clean lines, neutral palettes, and abundant natural light. Their spaces often incorporate custom-made furniture and artworks, textured materials, and vibrant, strategically placed accents. Emphasizing functionality and aesthetic harmony, Cuaik blends contemporary design with local cultural elements, creating environments that are both elegant and inviting.

Superbly photographed for the first time, this volume features a fine combination of residential and commercial spaces located across Mexico, Spain, and the US. Each project encompasses the architectural design of the space and the production of customized in-house furniture and art.

By revisiting projects situated in Mexico City, the book offers valuable insights into the evolution of spaces over time with the aim of analyzing the enduring transformations experienced by these spaces. The resulting interiors feel welcoming and are spaces that bring people together: rooms in which to eat, live, and spend time with loved ones.

Ten years since its founding, Cuaik is marking its debut at an international level with this publication, showcasing their innovative approach to interior design.

Alfonso López Baz is an architect, photographer, and founder of Grupo LBC, a leading architecture firm based in Mexico City. Jorge Méndez Blake is a Guadalajara-based artist who works in a variety of mediums, including drawing, painting, film, sculpture, installation, and performance, arguing for potential relations between key works of universal literature and space, via architecture.

BAGLIETTO

THE ART OF YACHTING SINCE 1854

ANTONIO MACALUSO

Passion for beauty and craftsmanship: a proudly Italian style that inhabits the world of yachting. This is the story of 170 years of Baglietto.

Where does craftsmanship end and art begin? What makes something—a product, a brand—impervious to time and fashions? These are the questions posed while strolling between the past and the present of Baglietto, the Italian shipyard that has been building world-class yachts for 170 years.

Success is not built in an instant. Being good, looking to the future, imposing a style that lasts over time is the gamble every entrepreneur takes. There are not many who succeed, which is why those who reach the age of 170 deserve to be studied, as well as celebrated. Baglietto is now a kind of great international club, access to which serves the right mix of passion for the sea, refined taste for boats that is never over-the-top but rather soberly chic, and, of course, the right spending capacity for objects that cost.

Experience and tradition merge in an encounter between past and present and look to the future for a history of the greatest achievements.

Antonio Macaluso has been collaborating with Corriere della Sera since 1986. He was appointed head of the Monday economy section in 1994 and deputy central editor-in-chief in 1996.

Sanam Khatibi

EVERYTHING I DON'T REMEMBER

SANAM KHATIBI

This is the first international monograph on Belgian-based artist with Iranian heritage Sanam Khatibi.

Khatibi's timeless and allegorical works are set in fantastical, utopian landscapes where humans and beasts exhibit little emotional or physical distinction. She plays with ambivalence to juxtapose dualities such as animal versus human, past versus present, and cruelty versus seduction. Her subjects live on their impulses in alluring, exotic landscapes. They are ambiguous in their relationship to power, violence, sensuality, and each other. The recurrent themes in her work question our connection to chaos, destruction, excess, loss of control, bestiality, domination, and submission. Wildlife and animals are an integral part of her practice, and her subjects are often depicted within the same plane as the flora and fauna.

Channeling magical naturalism through paintings, embroideries, tapestries, sculptures, and installations, Khatibi both exalts and cautions against the fine line between triumph and failure, peace and brutality, and, ultimately, civilization and destruction.

Khatibi's recent solo shows include Mendes Wood DM, São Paulo (2022); Groeninge Museum, Bruges (2021); Kunsthal Gent (2020); Rodolphe Janssen, Brussels (2019); Musée d'art de la Province de Hainaut, BPS22, Charleroi (2019); and P.P.O.W, New York (2019). Her work has also been part of institutional group shows at the National Museum of Contemporary Art, Athens (2022); Kunsthal KAdE, Amersfoort (2022); Centraal Museum, Utrecht (2021); S.M.A.K., Ghent (2021); Kortrijk Triennial (2021); Kunstverein Dresden (2020); Museum of Contemporary Art Antwerp (M HKA) (2020); and 16th Istanbul Biennial (2019).

Sanam Khatibi lives and works between Brussels and Paris. Her work explores animality and primal impulses, focusing on our relationship to power structures and the duality of triumph and failure.

Unipol Tower

GROUP HEADQUARTERS MILAN

EDITED BY MANUEL ORAZI

CONTRIBUTIONS BY JAY MERRICK

Milan, on the one hand; architecture today, on the other: Unipol Tower is one of the latest projects in the city to feature a “sensory” building.

Milan is growing fast and—above all—it is getting higher and higher in terms of architecture and urban development. A new tower stands out against the city skyline: the Unipol Tower designed by Mario Cucinella Architects, an internationally renowned architecture studio based in Milan and Bologna. The Unipol Tower is a 124-meter elliptical tower in the Porta Nuova area, in the heart of the city. Made from glass and steel, it has a glasshouse on the rooftop serving as a cultural venue. Commissioned by Unipol, the leading Italian insurance company, the tower looks beyond the corporate identity and headquarters of Unipol and has been acclaimed as one of the most advanced architecture projects ever created.

Manuel Orazi describes the structure in terms of its conception and its inclusion within the urban context, together with the testimony of the structural engineer, Massimo Majowiecki. The creator of the building, architect Mario Cucinella, talks about its genesis. Architecture critic Jay Merrick introduces the book with a foreword.

Manuel Orazi has a PhD in the History of Architecture and Urbanism from Luav University of Venice. He has taught at the Universities of Camerino, Bologna, and Ferrara. Jay Merrick is an authoritative architecture critic and contributor to Icon Magazine, The Independent, Architects Journal, and Monument Magazine Australia.

At the Table of La Fortezza

THE ENCHANTMENT OF TUSCAN COOKING FROM THE LUNIGIANA REGION

ANNETTE JOSEPH, PHOTOGRAPHS BY DAVID LOFTUS

Annette Joseph shares recipes from the charming Lunigiana region of Tuscany that were developed at her medieval fortress, La Fortezza. This is the first book on the cuisine of this important slow-food area.

Lunigiana is a rugged, mountainous region of Tuscany, flanked by the Liguria coastline and Emilia-Romagna, whose cuisine has been shaped by its distinctive landscape and location. Author and stylist Annette Joseph purchased and renovated a stunning medieval fortress, aptly named La Fortezza (“The Fortress”), in this little-known area. Enamored by Lunigiana’s rich food heritage and traditions, Joseph sought out authentic and traditional dishes from the best chefs, home cooks, and slow-food purveyors in the region. This book showcases these rustic recipes, some of which have been enjoyed for centuries.

Lunigiana’s cuisine brings together the flavors of both the coast and the mountains and draws inspiration from the neighboring regions. It is home to unique ingredients, such as chestnut flour, and its specialties are often still prepared the ancient way. Lunigiana is also recognized by UNESCO as a sustainable region, and Joseph’s recipes highlight slow-food practices, such as sourcing seasonal ingredients from local producers.

Breathtaking photographs by David Loftus highlight the beauty of Lunigiana’s cuisine and countryside, as well as La Fortezza’s dreamy vineyard, orchards, and kitchen garden. This book is an incredible culinary and visual journey into an undiscovered region in Italy and a must-have for anyone who loves Italian food and culture.

Annette Joseph is an author and expert on entertaining, cooking, and styling and design. Her recipes and party ideas have been featured in Southern Living, Harper’s Bazaar, and Elle Decor. David Loftus is an award-winning and internationally acclaimed food and lifestyle photographer.

Garden Wild

WILDFLOWER MEADOWS, PRAIRIE-STYLE PLANTINGS, ROCKERIES, FERNERIES, AND OTHER SUSTAINABLE DESIGNS INSPIRED BY NATURE

ANDRÉ BARANOWSKI
FOREWORD BY DOROTHY KALINS

This book is a survey of 12 breathtakingly beautiful gardens by award-winning photographer Andre Baranowski, whose eye for beauty will embolden readers the world over to embrace their inner instincts and create their own garden wild.

The new movement in contemporary gardening is about going back to the wilderness, creatively landscaping with native plants to enrich their environments and seamlessly merge with their natural surroundings. Politely rejecting traditional manicured, hedged and pruned gardening aesthetics to invite an alternative kind of beauty: wildly bursting with indigenous plants, old-growth trees, vibrant patches of wildflowers and perennials, succulents, un-pruned bushes and ornamental grasses. New York City's Highline is a famous example and this landscaping approach is becoming increasingly popular for private homeowners. This book surveys twelve such breathtaking gardens captured by award winning photographer Andre Baranowski. The featured gardens range from small private residencies to large properties, by renowned landscapers such as Oehme van Sweden, Fernando Caruncho, Jorge Sanchez, and Piet Oudolf. New York Art Deco

BIRDS, BEASTS & BLOOMS

ERIC P. NASH AND ANDREW GARN

The definitive book on New York Deco, from the smallest of details to the grandest of buildings.

New York City, arguably the world's Art Deco capital, is well known for its striking and still iconic towers that were early expressions of the style writ large—most famously the Empire State and Chrysler buildings, both of which still speak so eloquently of the future and the machine age that continues to move us all forward. Art Deco is drawn in steel, in tile, in brass, in bronze, and in stone upon great buildings and small—and in the details, as so engagingly shown here. The reader is brought, for example, into the extraordinary Fred F. French Building at 551 Fifth Avenue in Manhattan, a treasure house of the form whose ornate lobby is a wonder of sparkling seduction in all directions: racing above is a fan palm and fleur de lis—decorated architrave, and golden Assyrian equestrian archers on a field of onyx take aim while stunning chandeliers set with crystal feathers and bronze shoot out their own thin arrows of illumination. Beyond the famous, we are invited to consider little-seen stunners beside the Grand Concourse in the Bronx or upon the face of an apartment house in Brooklyn Heights. Featuring both the legendary and the little known, on display here, through all-new photography, is Art Deco New York as never seen before.

Andrew Garn is a Fulbright-winning photographer and author of New York by Neighborhood. Eric P. Nash is the author of SoHo New York and was a researcher for the New York Times for twenty-five years, where he wrote more than 100 articles.

Murals of New York City

THE BEST OF NEW YORK'S PUBLIC PAINTINGS FROM BEMELMANS TO PARRISH

GLENN PALMER-SMITH
PHOTOGRAPHS BY JOSHUA MCHUGH
INTRODUCTION BY GRAYDON CARTER

A celebration of New York City's most treasured public art.

Whether it's cocktails at the Carlyle, taking in a show at Lincoln Center, traveling via subway, or flying out of LaGuardia's venerable Marine Air Terminal, uptown to downtown to the outer boroughs, the art created for the walls of New York City's bars, hotels, offices, government buildings, and schools have themselves created the identities of the rooms they live in.

Murals of New York City was the first book to curate more than thirty of the most important, influential, and impressive murals found within all five boroughs. Full-color images of works such as Paul Helleu's Mural of the Stars on Grand Central Terminal's ceiling, Robert Crowl's Dancers at the Bar at Lincoln Center, Edward Laning's New York Public Library McGraw Rotunda, José Maria Sert and Frank Brangwyn's Rockefeller Center murals, and work by artists such as Marc Chagall, Keith Haring, Roy Lichtenstein, Maxfield Parrish, and more are accompanied by informative and historical commentary.

Perfect for art and architecture lovers, Murals of New York City serves as the perfect resource for New Yorkers and souvenir for the millions of tourists who visit the city every year.

Glenn Palmer-Smith restored the famed Bemelmans Bar murals at the Café Carlyle, and his own murals have appeared in The New Yorker, the New York Times, and Architectural Digest. Joshua McHugh's photographs have appeared in Elle Decor, House Beautiful, Architectural Digest, and Metropolitan Home. Graydon Carter was the editor of Vanity Fair.

Parks of the 21st Century

REINVENTED LANDSCAPES, RECLAIMED TERRITORIES

VICTORIA NEWHOUSE, WITH ALEX PISHA

We are in the midst of a worldwide golden age of park creation, and featured here are powerfully telling examples at the forefront of this renaissance.

Parks are essential to our well-being; this has never been clearer than it is today, and a recent surge of park development offers us much to celebrate. Parks of the 21st Century presents 52 parks in the U.S., Mexico, Canada, Europe, and China that have turned despoiled and polluted land (including former factories, railroads, and industrial waterfronts) into beneficial landscapes.

Landscape architects have been referred to as “the first environmentalists,” and Parks of the 21st Century shows how parks are being designed as proactive, dynamic green spaces. The High Line in New York is an early example of how an obsolete railroad could be transformed. Opened in 2009, it now attracts nearly 8 million visitors a year. In addition to providing public open space, these renewed landscapes offer economic revitalization and large-scale environmental improvement. Among the parks featured in this book are designs by well-known professionals such as James Corner Field Operations, Michael Van Valkenburgh Associates, Kongjian Yu/Turenscape, and Catherine Mosbach.

Architectural historian Victoria Newhouse is the author of Towards a New Museum, Chaos and Culture, and others. Alex Pisha is a landscape and architectural designer for cultural, academic, and civic projects.

Illusion in Design

NEW TRENDS IN ARCHITECTURE
AND INTERIORS

PAUL GUNTHER AND GAY GIORDANO

Cutting-edge examples of the use of optical illusion in design—from trompe l'oeil to anamorphosis—to solve various challenges, be they space or budget related, or that act as aesthetic features in architecture and the fields that rub elbows with it: art, design, and furniture.

This magical volume presents the startling world of illusion in design as employed by today's architects, interior designers, furniture designers, and others at work bending the appearance of reality for purposes of aesthetics or practicality or fun. From a faux bookcase that masks a room or Prohibition-style bar, to the mind-boggling Escher-like effects achieved by Casa Ceramica, whose optical illusion of a floor dips into valleys and rises into mounds (but is in reality flat), the book is a revelation and an inspiration. It offers to us the possibility that nearly anything can be done, if it can be imagined—even in our own homes.

The authors look at residences across the globe, as well as spaces beyond the home, that utilize a myriad of surprising techniques.

Included are projects by conceptual designers such as Studio Malka and Vector Architects, as well as established practitioners such as Ferguson and Shamamian, G. P. Schafer, Peter Pennoyer, Redd/Kaihoi, and others, and all will surprise and engage the inspired viewer who will see that nearly anything can be done, if it can be imagined.

The Blonds

GLAMOUR, FASHION, FANTASY

DAVID BLOND AND PHILLIPE BLOND, CONTRIBUTIONS
BY DAPHNE GUINNESS, BILLY PORTER AND PARIS
HILTON

If you've seen images of the biggest entertainers—Mariah Carey, Miley Cyrus, Katy Perry, Lil Kim, Britney Spears, Rihanna, J. Lo, or Madonna—on stage in a crystallized costume, you've seen the work of The Blonds.

The Blonds is an invitation to designer Phillippe Blond and creative director David Blond's inclusive, wild, and high-octane world. Since 2006, The Blonds have catered to the entertainment industry with glamor-usly over-the-top designs. Celebrities rely on the duo's intricate corsets, catsuits, and dresses for performances, award shows, editorials, and any other special occasion where they need to move and shine.

Their first book, as riotous as the brand's legendary New York Fashion Week shows, unfolds in several acts, starting with an introduction to Phillippe and David, detailing their inspirations and how they built their rebellious brand over the last two decades. A chapter on their legendary runway shows includes details of their most iconic looks. The centerpiece showcases editorial and stage photography of celebrities, surrounded by anecdotes from the stars about their performances, life on stage, and their love of The Blonds. Including an in-depth look at the duo's high-profile partnerships, runway shows, and the craftsmanship behind each piece, The Blonds is a backstage pass from sketch to stadium.

David and Phillippe Blond met when they were young, hungry New York creatives who, like many, were enchanted by the city and its nightlife. This led to an ever-growing fashion house that merges their mutual interests into handmade clothes fit for their private clients and rock stars alike.

MATTHEW YOKOBOSKY

There has never been--and will never be--another nightclub to rival the sheer glamour, energy, and wild creativity that was Studio 54. This catalog accompanies an exhibition at the Brooklyn Museum exploring how Studio 54 was a unique zeitgeist of an era.

From the moment it opened in 1977, Studio 54 celebrated spectacle and promised a never-ending parade of anything goes. It quickly became known for its all-ages celebrity guest list and its uniquely chic clientele of superstars and freaks of all races and sexual preferences who would often show up half-dressed or in costume. From the cutting-edge lighting displays and sound system to its elaborate sets that would change on a whim, altering the environment and ambiance, it was the beginning of nightclub as performance art.

Now, the Brooklyn Museum is staging the first exhibition featuring the nightclub as a bellwether of New York City cultural life. More than 650 objects--spanning fashion, photography, drawings, film, and music--as well as video, film, and soundtrack, create an immersive experience, with an exhibition design inspired by the club's original lighting and atmosphere. Highlights include never-before-published costume sketches by artist Antonio Lopez and newly discovered set designs, as well as ephemera salvaged by the original club staff and interviews with the cultural luminaries who were there.

Telling the story of this legendary club, as well as serving as a companion to the exhibition, Studio 54: Night Magic serves as a document of the era, depicting the wild energy and provocative creativity of this seminal cultural moment.

Jeff Staple

NOT JUST SNEAKERS

JEFF STAPLES, FOREWORD BY HIROSHI FUJIWARA

A streetwear collab and sneaker legend, Jeff Staple is known the world over for his work with brands, including Nike, The Fader, and Hypebeast. This monograph documents the past twenty-five years of Staple's most iconic work.

In 1997, Jeff Staple walked into a boutique in New York City wearing a shirt he printed in his silk-screen class at Parsons School of Design. What started as a small, handmade T-shirt line grew organically and began to garner a serious following in New York. In the process of building this burgeoning brand, Staple was asked by Nike in 2005 to create a special commemorative sneaker that would represent New York. The Staple Pigeon Dunk SB was conceived and led to much fanfare upon its release. It exposed Staple—as well as sneaker culture—to a mass audience. In Staple's words, to understand is to see and to see is to have clarity of mind. That clarity has helped develop his iconic Pigeon logo (and brand) into a global force that has graced the heels of almost every major footwear brand imaginable.

This book offers readers a history lesson in his enormous contributions to streetwear and the sneaker industry while also uncovering design context to a series of Staple's most crucial projects. A beautiful visual reference, this book invites the reader to travel down an intricate maze of streetwear history told through an insider's point of view. Archival sketches, drawings, magazine covers, and contributions by Hiroshi Fujiwara and Futura make this an indispensable volume for lovers of streetwear and design.

Jeff Staple is an American fashion and graphic designer and the founder of New York visual communications agency Staple Design. Hiroshi Fujiwara is a Japanese musician, producer, and designer. Futura is a street artist born and raised in New York. He regularly collaborates with brands from Nike to Supreme. He lives and works in Brooklyn, New York.

A key figure in twentieth-century photography, Willy Ronis conveyed the poetic reality of postwar Paris and Provence in iconic black-and-white photographs. Influenced by Alfred Stieglitz and Ansel Adams, and amicable with his contemporary Magnum photographers, Ronis was the first French photographer to contribute to Life magazine. In the 1950s, MoMA curator Edward Steichen featured Ronis—along with Henri Cartier-Bresson, Robert Doisneau, and Brassai—in the groundbreaking exhibitions The Family of Man and Five French Photographers.

Throughout his life, Ronis kept meticulous records of his work, curating each era into albums, which are reproduced here for the first time. Timeless photographs of postwar France and its inhabitants are accompanied by the photographer's original observations, framing the images within their technical and historical context. Photography historian Matthieu Rivallin's critical perspective adds nuance to the photographer's notes, and the ensemble is a groundbreaking and definitive reference of the artists' immense career.

Willy Ronis has been the recipient of many awards, including the Venice Biennale Gold Medal, the Grand Prix des Arts et Lettres for Photography, and the Prix Nadar. Matthieu Rivallin is the author of several books. He manages the 20th-century photography archives at the Médiathèque de l'Architecture et du Patrimoine (the Library of Architecture and Heritage).

Musée Picasso Paris

EDITED BY ANNE BALDASSARI

This comprehensive tome covers all aspects of Picasso's artistic career, from self-portraits to sculpture to photography, and features an extensive chronology.

The Musée Picasso Paris houses the most impressive collection of Picasso's works ever assembled. Structured chronologically, this compendious volume spans the artist's career, tracing the evolution of his art through ten phases, from the Blue Period (1901–04) to the portrait of The Young Painter (1972), which he finished in his penultimate year. Primarily devoted to Picasso's paintings, the book also explores his work in sculpture, ceramic, photography, drawing, and etching.

Featuring 360 specially commissioned photographs of Picasso's greatest works, the history of the 4,500-room museum, critical analysis by the museum's experts, an extensive biography of Picasso's life, and photographs of the artist, this compact edition, previously published as Picasso's Masterpieces, is an essential resource. This chunky paperback edition is beautifully produced and features a debossed reproduction of Picasso's Bull's Head, a vertical band, and a tuxedo-strip detail along the page trim. Covers in three color variations—turquoise, red, or yellow—are shipped at random.

Anne Baldassari was president of the Musée Picasso Paris from 2005–14.

Capturing Fashion

PHOTOGRAPHS BY GLEB DERUJINSKY
TEXT BY ANDREA DERUJINSKY
FOREWORD BY EILEEN FORD

Discover the game-changing, innovative fashion photography of Gleb Derujinsky—one of the most unique and creative photographers of the twentieth century—who changed the face of fashion photography

Gleb Derujinsky's career as a fashion photographer took hold in the golden age of European haute couture, when Balenciaga and Pierre Balmain were at the top of their game and Yves Saint Laurent and Karl Lagerfeld were designing their first runway shows. Although air travel was still reserved for the happy few, Derujinsky convinced his editors Carmel Snow and Diana Vreeland to send him around the world to photograph beautiful models—like Carmen Dell'Orefice and his future wife, Ruth Neumann—draped in expensive gowns juxtaposed against rough desert dunes or a glittering ocean at sunset. His ideas were revolutionary and they gave rise to the mystique and glamour that is now pervasive in fashion.

Derujinsky was the quintessential Renaissance man—photographer, award-winning cinematographer and commercial director, inventor, WWII veteran, world traveler, jewelry designer, musician, ski instructor, Ferrari America race-car driver, and champion glider pilot. His passion for photography started at the tender age of six, by ten, he had built a photo enlarger, and as a teenager, he became the youngest member of the Camera Club of New York. His photographs appeared in major lifestyle magazines and extensively in Harper's Bazaar from 1950 to 1970. This is the first monograph to celebrate his major contributions to the history of fashion and photography.

Andrea Derujinsky is Gleb Derujinsky's daughter. After her father's sudden death in a car crash, she discovered that he had been working on an autobiographical photography book about his Harper's Bazaar years; she picked up where he left off. She is an expert on fashion in the 1950s to 1960s, including the era's top models, which include her own late mother, Ruth Neumann-Derujinsky.

I Adulted at Work!

ESSENTIAL STICKERS FOR HARDWORKING AND HOME-WORKING GROWN-UPS

ROBB PEARLMAN

A sequel to the extremely popular I Adulted: Stickers for Grown-Ups, I Adulted at Work! is a whimsically illustrated book containing 250 removable stickers that congratulate supposed grown-ups on a job well done . . . or at least a job done.

Despite official reports, most adults feel completely and totally ill-prepared to deal. With anything. They still, as purportedly self-sufficient grown-ups, look toward older generations and think, "How did they do that?" So the easiest and best way to find comfort is to look not ahead at uncertainty (or, heaven forbid, around at the chaos currently surrounding them), but to the past to their simpler childhoods. And it is with brightly colored stickers in the workplace that they will finally find peace of mind. For a little while, at least.

Filled with 250 full-color removable stickers that can be used to decorate journals, notebooks, or your lapel to proudly and publicly proclaim work life's little victories, I Adulted at Work! is the ideal nostalgic and practical book for anyone who feels a sense of accomplishment by making it through a day on the job without calling their mother for help.

Robb Pearlman is an editor, author, and pop culture junkie. He is the author of more than thirty books for adults and kids, including I Adulted!, What Would Skeletor Do?, and The Wit and Wisdom of Star Trek.

Living Forever Chic

FRENCHWOMEN'S TIMELESS SECRETS FOR EVERYDAY ELEGANCE, GRACIOUS ENTERTAINING, AND ENDURING ALLURE

TISH JETT

French women of a certain age are the consummate hostesses, homemakers, and style icons—and you can be, too.

American-born fashion journalist Tish Jett explores why Frenchwomen of a certain age are master hostesses and homemakers, expert practitioners of les bonnes manières, as well as everyday elegance, savoir-faire, and as a result, la joie de vivre. Jett explains how to entertain like a French woman, including a glimpse at preparing a delicious meal in the typical French larder, detailed instructions for laying a beautiful table, and a guide to the art of crafting a perfect cheese plate. She explores everyday style and elegance, disclosing how to create that special bien dans sa peau (to feel good about oneself)—a sensation coveted by French women. Jett also shares the importance of discipline, which goes hand in hand with beauty.

With tips on adjusting your beauty and style regimes seasonally, and charmingly packaged with color illustrations, Living Forever Chic is a delightful gift for the Francophile in your life.

Tish Jett was a fashion editor for The New York Daily News Tonight edition (under Clay Felker), the style and fashion editor of the Detroit Free Press, and, before that, Midwest Bureau Chief for Women's Wear Daily and W. She was later Style Editor of the International Herald Tribune and the Chicago Tribune's correspondent in Paris.

The Art of Oz

WITCHES, WIZARDS, AND WONDERS BEYOND THE YELLOW BRICK ROAD

ILLUSTRATED BY GABRIEL GALE, TEXT BY JOHN FRICKE, FOREWORD BY MICHAEL PATRICK

In this must-have book for all fans of Oz big and small, artist and visionary Gabriel Gale brings to vivid life all the creatures from L. Frank Baum's beloved series, from the iconic characters in The Wonderful Wizard of Oz to many others that are visualized here for the first time.

The Wonderful Wizard of Oz was the best-selling American children's book of the twentieth century, and the classic 1939 movie of this quintessential American fairy tale left a permanent mark on the hearts and imaginations of devoted fans throughout the world. In The Art of Oz, artist and Oz archeologist Gabriel Gale brings to life all the creatures and inhabitants from L. Frank Baum's beloved series, many illustrated here for the first time: wicked witches and their armies, mythical beasts, elemental fairies, robots, insects, one-legged and two-sided people, and many more sky, land, sea, and underground creatures.

Gale has mapped the country and animated all the creatures he found there. Through spectacular illustrations, in original and precise style, Gale portrays each character in detail, often with attention to anatomy, structure, size, and scale. Gale's fantastical, vivid, and delightful renderings are also accompanied by excerpts and drawings from the fourteen books in Baum's Oz series, with the most famous inhabitants of Oz adding context to this magical endeavor. This is the perfect book for the whole family to share and for anyone entranced by the fantasy and everlasting magic of Oz.

Gabriel Gale is an architect and artist. In 2017 and 2018, he published two books in his three-book series Ages of Oz, which launched his own conception of a 1,000-year Oz universe based on the characters and intentions of L. Frank Baum's original books. John Fricke is a preeminent Oz historian; his past books include two about the entire Oz phenomenon and two about the famous MGM Wizard of Oz film. Michael Patrick Hearn is the author of the best-selling The Annotated Wizard of Oz and the world's leading authority on L. Frank Baum and his Oz series.
